Brevities Publishing Co. Faces Charges in Baltimore.

OTTENSTEIN AMONG 8 PERSONS ACCUSED

He Recently Escaped Jail Term Here by Dropping Publication.

The Brevities Publishing Co., publisher of the recently suppressed Washington Brevities, was indicted yesterday together with five other interlocking corporations and eight individuals by a Federal grand jury in Baltimore on charges of sending obscene matter through the mails and in interstate commerce.

Among those indicted was Joseph Ottenstein, head of the District News Co., which distributed the Washington Brevities. Ottenstein was recently sentenced by Police Judge Isaac R. Hitt to 180 days in jail and fined $500 on a charge of violating the District prohibition of lewd publications. The sentence was suspended when he agreed to abandon publication of the paper.

Directly after the indictment was returned, Morris D. Traub, special agent of the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation, and Deputy United States Marshal John Freeman, arrested C. C. Rumold, Donald Tracy and E. M. Budner, all of whom were later released on $1,500 bond pending trial.

56 Counts in Indictment.

The indictment contains 56 counts, and in addition to the Brevities Publishing Co., the indictment mentions the Maryland News Co., the A. B. & M. Corporation, the Daily Running Horse and the Cecelia Investment Co., all of which, United States District Attorney Simon E. Sobeloff says, are interlocking companies with the publishing house.

Others indicted were M. L. Annenberg, Walter H. Annenberg, H. E. Murray and J. D. Bannon, all of New York, who are the sole stockholders of the A. B. & M. Co. Ottenstein is alleged in the indictment to be connected with the Maryland News Co.

The officers of the Brevities Publishing Co. under indictment are: The president, Rumold; the editor, Tracy, and the secretary, Budner. All declined to say whether the Baltimore paper would be continued to be published. In reply to the latter question, Mr. Sobeloff said: "Well, we'll see."

Former Policeman Indicted.

In the indictment are 45 counts alleging that the concerns and individuals named deposited obscene matter with a common carrier for transportation in interstate commerce and 11 counts charging the sending of obscene matter through the mails.

Following the return of the indictment, Mr. Sobeloff issued the following statement:

"Some months ago, when the Baltimore Brevities made its appearance on the streets, numerous complaints came to this office. The publication or sale of the paper within the State is not an offense over which the

Denver, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—With absentee votes reported from 26 of Colorado's 63 counties, the vote for the short term United States senator stood today:

Husband Captures Intruder at Home

Holds Man at Gun Point on Balcony After Wife Screams for Help.

Seeing a colored man on the balcony of her bedroom as she was preparing to retire last night, Mrs. Crosby Noyes Boyd, 2409 Wateraide drive, screamed in alarm. Sensing a burglary, her husband came to her rescue with a double-barreled shotgun, which he leveled at the intruder, commanding him not to move.

Mrs. Boyd called police. When Policemen R. E. Talbot and J. F. Phelps arrived, they found the man being held at gun-point.

The intruder said he was LeRoy Johnson, 22, of Rocky Mount, N. C., and had arrived in Washington late yesterday. He said he was preparing to spend the night under a bridge near the Boyd home, and had made a bed of leaves and papers, when he happened to notice a blanket on the second floor balcony of the home. He needed the blanket. This was his explanation of being on the balcony of the home.

Chest Record Broken By $241,464 Donation

New Daily Mark Set Up as Total Ascends to $825,926.45.

Pledges amounting to almost a quarter of a million dollars were announced at yesterday's report meeting of the Community Chest campaign workers at the Willard Hotel. The actual amount, figured on the "how many pennies per day" basis was 24,146,409 of the little copper coins, or $241,464.09, the largest amount yet reported for any one day of the campaign. Even with this excellent showing, Newbold Noyes, campaign chairman, pointed out, the number and size of the gifts must be increased if the Chest is to reach its goal by next Wednesday night, when the campaign closes.

Heartened by the increased total reported and spurred on by the charge of Chairman Noyes, the Chest "Army" was scouring the city for additional gifts and will continue earnestly at work this morning, in an effort to better yesterday's total. A decided increase in the number and amount of Government employes' pledges was another promising feature of yesterday's meeting, and Gov. Thomas E. Campbell, chairman of that unit, expressed the belief that his organization, which had gotten away to a slow start, would keep on increasing the number of contributions reported daily.

Allen T. Burns, executive director of the Association of Community Chests and Councils of New York City, praised the spirit displayed at the meeting yesterday.

"Your group here is of the quality and of the caliber that means success for Washington," Mr. Burns said. "I have looked at your results and you are doing as well as any Chest in the country at this stage of the game. We are sure you are going to do your utmost and your best. We are, as always, proud of the Washington Chest. There is none better, and I am sure that your splendid

CORD AND FOE END AVIATION STRUGGLE

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—A compromise agreement between the opposing factions of the Aviation Corporation was announced late tonight in a joint statement by Lamotte T. Cohu, president of the corporation, and L. B. Manning, executive vice president of the Cord Corporation.

The compromise provides for the board of directors to be reduced to 15 members, one-third of whom will be selected by the present board, one-third by the faction headed by E. L. Cord, and the other third to be independent men mutually agreed upon.

"All matters at issue will be resolved by the new board," the statement said, "and litigation ended."

The statement said: "An agreement has been arrived at by representatives of both contending groups of directors of the Aviation Corporation looking to a settlement of the existing controversy. The arrangement will be submitted shortly to the board of directors."

Whether a proposed $1,000,000 libel suit by Cohu against two officials of E. F. Hutton & Co., in which papers were served today, is included in the litigation to be ended by the agreement of tonight was not specifically stated.

Ships Crash in Fog, Killing One Sailor

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—A head-on collision of two sea-going freighters in a heavy fog in Delaware Bay cost the life of one seaman and injured another.

With gaping holes in their bows, the vessels, the Alamar, from Tacoma, Wash., and the Makalla, a Cunard freighter, outbound for Baltimore and London, warped into their piers today.

William H. Morris, of Shamokin, Pa., an oiler on the Alamar, was crushed to death as he slept in his bunk. A shipmate, Walter Sandusky, of Baltimore, narrowly escaped fatal injuries when he was hurled through the Alamar's broken bow into the hole stove in the Makalla.

COMMITTEE IS TOLD VOTES WERE BOUGHT

House Probers Hear Woman Swear Dollar Was Put Into Her Hand.

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Testimony that Republican organization workers bought votes, intimidated Roosevelt voters and gave illegal assistance to citizens in the recent election was given today before the House committee on campaign expenditures.

The committee came here to investigate the election, so far as it related to the Presidency and congressmen, at the instance of S. Davis Wilson, manager of the Roosevelt Independent League, of Philadelphia.

Many witnesses passed before the committee and testified to what they said were their experiences on election day in their home precincts, or divisions, as they are called in Philadelphia.

Specific instances of alleged vote buying were testified to by two Negroes, one a woman.

Both told the committee that State Representative Clinton A. Sowers ir the Twentieth Ward, had handed out money. Aaron Hilton, one of the Negro witnesses, said that about 200 votes were bought in the division. The price was 25 to 50 cents, he said.

The woman, Mrs. Willie Cook, testified that when she went behind the curtain of the voting machine, some one pulled the lever for her. Then, she said, somebody shouted:

"'Cash register coming out.' Somebody pushed a $1 bill toward me and then a $1 bill was put in my hand."

"What did they put a $1 bill in your hand for?" asked Representative Heartsill Ragon (Democrat), Arkansas, chairman of the committee.

"I reckon for voting—but they voted for me," the witness replied.

French Farm Policy Is Voted Confidence

Paris, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—The Chamber of Deputies gave two votes of confidence tonight to the government's agricultural policy.

A motion calling for a committee of inquiry into speculation in the wheat market was rejected, 370 to 190. The government's recommendation that a national grain office be created was supported, 377 to 112.

Rankin Denounces Rivals For Speakership of House

Mississippi Member Assails Appeals to Sectionalism and Bosses.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

The fire-breathing representative, John E. Rankin, of Mississippi, yesterday jumped into the fight for Speaker of the next House and laid about him right lustily with verbal cudgels aimed at the various other aspirants.

He criticized their appeals "to sectionalism;" denounced their reported appeals to various party bosses for support; characterized some published statements on the subject as "most amazing" and painted himself in sharp contrast as a candidate who was going to appeal to the "untrammeled" and "unbossed" members of the House.

"I have no personal quarrel with the other gentlemen who aspire to

SENATE STOCK QUIZ RESUMPTION NEAR

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover signed an extradition warrant yesterday to have Samuel Insull, sr., returned to this country from Greece.

The warrant signed at the White House late in the afternoon and other documents in the case of the aged Chicago utilities operator, who is charged with larceny and embezzlement, were already in the mail tonight in a diplomatic pouch for dispatch by the fastest steamer to the American Legation in Athens.

Upon arrival in the Greek capital the presidential warrant will be authenticated by the American officials for presentation to Greek authorities.

Legation Will Assist.

After formalities, the defendant will be arraigned in a Greek court, where the legal aspects of the case will be considered to determine whether all requirements have been fulfilled with reference to a recently effected extradition treaty between the United States and Greece.

The American application in the proceedings will be handled by two Illinois State's attorneys, Charles A. Bellows and Andrew J. Vlachos, now in Athens, in cooperation with the American Legation.

Insull was first arrested October 11 after his arrival in Athens from Paris, but was released as the long-contemplated extradition treaty had not yet become effective.

Technicalities of Treaty.

At the request of the American Legation, Insull was again arrested on November 5 and taken to a hospital on account of his age and nearnervous breakdown.

Insull's counsel said the recently enacted treaty is not retroactive in the case of his client.

Preparations for resuming the Senate stock market inquiry next month and for investigating the Insull utilities crash as well were quickened yesterday with the arrival of Chairman Norbeck, of the banking committee.

The South Dakota senator announced the committee would go on with its examination of stock-market practices at the opening of Congress three weeks hence and said enough evidence in connection with the Insull case had been collected to "start at any time."

Tired After Campaign.

Tired out after weeks of intensive campaigning which culminated in his reelection, Norbeck indicated he would try to get some rest before Congress opens, but said a meeting of the steering committee in charge of the inquiry probably would be held beforehand to plan for the hearings. Other members of the group directing the investigation are Senators Glass (Democrat), of Virginia, and Townsend (Republican), of Delaware.

Asked if members of the Insull family would be called, Norbeck said Samuel Insull, jr., would be if the committee could not get the information it wants from others.

New Jersey Dry Law Will Die December 6

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 17 (A.P.).—New Jersey State and municipal police agencies were advised today by Attorney General William A. Stevens that the Hobart State prohibition enforcement act would become inoperative December 6. Cooperation with Federal enforcement officers was optional, the attorney general ruled, responding to a query by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of State police.

The State enforcement act was repealed at a popular referendum November 8, but the act will remain in force until the State Board of Canvassers certifies the vote December 6.

Akron Quits Lakehurst For Cruise Over Sea

Lakehurst, N. J., Nov. 17 (A.P.).—The Navy dirigible Akron left its base at 5:45 p. m. today for a training flight that will take it out over the Atlantic.

The weather forecast tomorrow will determine the length of the ship's flight. If conditions are favorable, it will point southward and participate in the Wright memorial exercises at Kittyhawk, N. C., Saturday and return to its hangar Sunday, Capt. Shoemaker, commandant at the naval air station said.

HOOVER CALLS CHIEFS OF BOTH PARTIES TO DEBTS CONFERENCE; SHOWDOWN ON U. S. FURLOUGHS DUE AT START OF SHORT SESSION

Byrns Will Press Early Action on Pay Status.

SUPPLY BILL TO HOLD FATE

Consolidation Drive Is Set as Extension of Cut Is Hit.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Extension of the Government furlough-pay cut, proposed by the Budget Bureau and sponsored by the administration, faces a showdown on the Postoffice-Treasury appropriations bill the first week of Congress, Appropriations Chairman Joseph W. Byrns said last night.

He will submit the question to the full appropriations committee at its first meeting early in December, he said. He plans no conference with subcommittee chairmen.

If the vote is favorable, economy act provisions will be written uniformly into every appropriation measure, in lieu of continuing the economy act, he stated.

To circumvent a point of order from the floor, protesting imposition of legislation on an appropriation bill, a special rule may be sought by the House appropriations committee, it was indicated.

War and Navy Merger.

At the same time, Chairman Byrns announced he will reintroduce his bill for merging War and Navy Departments into a Department of National Defense, at an estimated saving of approximately $50,000,000.

A counterattack on the Budget Bureau payment extension proposals was launched yesterday by Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary-treasurer of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, The National Federation of Federal Employes and the American Federation of Government Employes previously set machinery in motion to defeat the furlough move.

Coincident with announcement that the Postoffice Department will become the battleground in the testing the pay-cut extension, the Nation-wide opposition effort was started among postoffice clerks.

Attack on Continuance.

"A continuation of the economy bill for another fiscal year would be an economic blunder of far-reaching evil consequences," Mr. Flaherty said.

"It would be a virtual notice to the American people that no business recovery is in sight prior to July 1, 1934."

Vocal opposition failed to materialize yesterday at the Capitol. Representative James M. Mead, Democrat, chairman of the postoffice committee, and Representative Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Republican, leaders in the battle for Government workers' rights, had not returned from New York.

Representative John J. Cochran (Democrat), New Jersey, who joined Baltimore Grand Jury Bills Gang in $18,000 Holdup Near Plum Point.

Former District Policeman Edwin A. Mumper and three other Washingtonians were indicted yesterday by a Federal grand jury in Baltimore on a charge of assaulting prohibition investigators who were convoying an $18,000 liquor confiscation near Plum Point, Md., on September 25.

The others indicted are Joseph McCaffrey, who gave an address on A street near Sixteenth street northeast; Louis Brown, who said he lived on L street near Nineteenth street northeast, and Henry G. Carter, for whom no specific address was given. Mumper lives at 518 Somerset street.

They are accused of having assaulted four dry officers with submachine guns.

The liquor had been seized at Plum Point, Md., and was being convoyed to Baltimore when fourteen men halted the truck drivers and four agents. Mumper was positively identified by Agent John B. Ball as the man who held him at bay and took a pistol from him.

Control of Congress Sought by Roosevelt

President-elect Plans to Exercise Party Leadership Vigorously at Short Session; Displays Interest in Speakership Fight.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Influential Democratic senators on Capitol Hill received word informally from Albany yesterday that President-elect Roosevelt has determined to exercise his new party leadership vigorously during the approaching short session of Congress.

As interpreted by friends of Gov. Roosevelt here, this decision does not portend the presentation of a positive program of Democratic legislative proposals, but merely an agreement upon the necessity for disciplined and coherent party policy in both Houses on the principal measures scheduled for serious consideration in the lame duck session.

The first objective of this congressional set-up, as now approved, would be a system of party discipline and responsibility calculated to avoid such spectacular exhibitions of factional and regional strife as so grievously embarrased the Democratic leadership in the House last session. Secondly, it would seek to limit Democratic activity to constructive measures having a reasonable chance of enactment in the crowded short session.

Gov. Roosevelt is represented by some of his political intimates on Capitol Hill as having taken the position firmly that a good party record in the short session would provide the best possible atmosphere for the launching of the new administration next year. To that end, a system of effective party management and coordination will be established at once.

In these same quarters, it is anticipated that a complete list of legislative measures slated for Democratic support in the short session will be ready by December 1. A series of conferences with House and Senate leaders here and at Warm Springs, Ga., during the next ten days, is scheduled to reduce this broad agreement of party leaders to specific terms. A beginning on these conferences will be made in Washington next Tuesday afternoon, following Mr. Roosevelt's conversations with President Hoover on the foreign debt problem.

Whether Gov. Roosevelt will undertake to influence his party's attitude on prohibition reform in the short session appears to remain a moot question. But on such matters as debts, taxation, economy, Federal reorganization, the St. Lawrence treaty, the bonus, banking reform and currency inflation, the President-elect is expected to exert his leadership in favor of effective party unity. This leadership will be exercised quietly and informally, but it will be none the less real.

Although the question will not be decided until the Seventy-third Con-

Marine Flier Hurts Leg In Sham Battle Crash

San Diego Nov. 17 (A.P.).—One Marine Corps flier was injured and three escaped today in a collision between two fighting planes at an elevation of 7,000 feet. Piloted by Firs. Lieut. Albert D. Cooley and Second Lieut. E. C. Dyer, with Second Lieut. J. S. Holmberg and Staff Sergt. Edwin O. Binnings as gunners, the planes were engaged in a sham aerial combat when the collision occurred.

The men jumped with their parachutes and landed safely near the Inland highway, 25 miles north of here. Lieut. Holmberg suffered a lacerated leg in the collision.

Fireman Injured Racing To Students' "Pep" Rally

Severe injury of a Washington fireman was one of the many events of last night which had their inception in a "pep" meeting at Catholic University incident to "home-coming" ceremonies for the football game tonight with Duquesne University.

The fireman, Sergt. A. E. Cox, of No. 24 Engine Co., received a compound fracture of the left arm when fire apparatus crashed with an automobile while speeding on an alarm turned in for the celebration at the university.

The accident happened at Georgia avenue and Irving street. The fire truck collided with the car of Joseph Adams, colored, 40, of 737 Irving street northwest. Sergt. Cox, who was on the running board of the truck, was thrown to the glass-littered street. He was treated at Garfield Hospital for his broken arm, cuts and loss of blood.

Following the rally and bonfire, university students blocked Michigan avenue near the Baltimore & Ohio tracks. Two fire trucks were driven back and forth to keep the street open after a motorcycle policeman had been pelted with mud and forced to give up his efforts to clear the street.

Traffic was stopped and students gave occupants of automobiles a violent rocking up and down. Plans to pick up a "very small" car with its President's Parley With Roosevelt Set Tuesday.

POWERS URGE EARLY REPLY

Tide of Hostility on Capitol Hill Is Growing.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Hoover and President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt will sit down together in the White House next Tuesday afternoon to an exchange of views on the future policy of this Government with regard to intergovernmental debts.

At 10 o'clock the following day the debt discussions will go into a legislative phase when the President confers with a dozen leading members in Congress of both parties. Out of these two momentous conferences is expected to come the American reply to the recent formal requsts of England, France and Belgium for postponement of their war-debt payments due December 15.

Behind the formal announcement that issued from the White House yesterday afternoon with regard to the forthcoming visit of the President-elect, there was an element of simplicity and directness.

Phone Talk With Roosevelt.

President Hoover was seated at his desk engrossed with the details of the current debt negotiations. It was shortly after noon. The telephone at his elbow buzzed discreetly. "Albany on the wire, sir." And in a few moments the voices of President and President-elect were mingled in pleasant conversation.

Later in the afternoon the announcement was made from the White House offices that the Tuesday conference had been finally arranged. President Hoover will be accompanied by Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills and a dispatch from Albany announced that President-elect Roosevelt's advisor will be Prof. Raymond Moley, of Columbia University.

Out of deference to the wishes of the President-elect, the meeting between the two executives will be on a "wholly personal and informal" plane. Prof. Moley has been advising the Governor of New York on the economic details of his recent campaign speeches and will be at his side when the discussion is launched on Tuesday on the war debts.

Congress Leaders Invited.

Telegrams were dispatched last night to the following members of the Senate and House to invite them to the White House the day after the Roosevelt visit "to discuss questions of foreign debts": Republican senators, Smoot, of Utah; Watson, of Indiana; Reed of Pennsylvania; Democratic senators, Harrison, of Mississippi; King, of Utah, and George, of Georgia. Senator Smoot is the "Lame Duck" chairman of the finance committee and will be succeeded by Senator "Pat" Harrison as ranking Democrat. The House members who have been invited are: Republican representatives, Hawley, of Oregon; Treadway, of Massachusetts; Bachrach, of New Jersey, and the Democrats, Collier, of Mississippi; Rainey, of Illinois, and Doughton, of North Carolina.

President-elect Roosevelt will likewise confer with several of these same Democratic leaders with more leisure during his Warm Springs visit when he goes to Georgia from Washington.

In his telegram of acceptance last week he had expressed the hope that

HUNGER MARCH BAR AUTHORITY SOUGHT

Bride Will Seek Advice of Mitchell on Preventing Demonstrations.

The advice of Attorney General William D. Mitchell with respect to the barring of "hunger marchers" to the Capital is being sought by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride.

Mr. Bride is expected at the office of the Attorney General today or tomorrow to consult with the Attorney General on the legality of barring the so-called "hunger marchers" from the Capital.

Superintendent of Police Ernest W. Brown, Assistant Superintendent Frank S. W. Burke and Mr. Bride held a long conference at the District Building yesterday at which the problem of the reception for the marchers was discussed.

Thanksgiving Day Plan.

None of the participants would discuss the nature of the conference, but Mr. Bride did say that he had a plan for handling of the situation which he will give to the District Commissioners within the next few days.

Meanwhile, Maj. Brown announced that the department would make determined efforts to prevent the proposed demonstration at the White House on Thanksgiving Day in which children would be paraded.

There is no thought at this time on the part of the Commissioners for asking Federal assistance in the handling of the marchers when they arrive, because the police have been unable to learn with any certainty the number that will compose the march. Mr. Bride, it is believed, will get the Attorney General's reaction as to the legality of barring the group from the city.

Exploitation of Children.

The march of the children at the White House, according to police, is being sponsored by Herbert B. Benjamin, a New York radical, who is fostering the "hunger march." According to announcements, 200 children will parade before the White House to protest against "suffering of children due to the unemployment situation."

Maj. Brown said he will put forth "every effort to stop the exploitation of children for the purpose of extending the propaganda of the 'hunger marchers'." It is the plan of the police chief to invoke District laws against the exploitation of children in order to halt the proposed march.

A similar parade of children is scheduled for Baltimore tomorrow, when children, carrying empty milk bottles, will be paraded near the City Hall. The leaders of the movement will be under the observation of Washington detectives.

Bonus Army Reorganization.

Winchester, Va., Nov. 17 (A.P.).—A number of automobiles bearing Illinois license plates and placards indicating they were in charge of former service men intent on "reorganizing," have been seen here recently.

The men in charge said they were on their way to Washington, and that others were expected to join them for another attempt to influence Congress to order cash payment of the bonus.

Representatives of local service organizations said they have no intention of encouraging the itinerants to undertake to set up a camp here, as was done on several occasions last summer. Local service men's posts said they were already engaged in welfare work among their own "kith and kin," and were advising former service men from other sections to stay at home.

Farmers' March Planned.

Local veterans also were calling the attention of the visitors to word received from the District of Columbia Commissioners through Gov. Pollard that the Washington authorities have no means for feeding or housing them.

Madison, Nebr., Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Andrew Dahlstein, of Newman Grove, president of the Madison County Farm Holiday Association, today said plans had been virtually completed for a march on Washington by 25 motor truckloads of Madison County farmers.

Madison County, he said, would be a concentration point for farm marchers from Western States. The trip from here to Washington would start November 28 and was expected to require six days. Advance agents to make arrangements for food and shelter were planned.

Dahlstein said the farmers would demand a moratorium on farm mortgages and some plan of Federal farm relief for farmers burdened with mortgages.

Lewis and Brookhart Confined by Illness

Chicago, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Physicians said today Senator James Hamilton Lewis would remain in Henrotin Hospital for two weeks to obtain a complete rest before Congress reassembles December 4. Weakened by strenuous campaigning prior to the general election, Senator Lewis entered the hospital two weeks ago.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, has recovered sufficiently from a cold, which bordered on pneumonia, to sit up a short while daily, his son, Smith W. Brookhart, jr., said today.

Senator Jones Gaining Strength, Son Reports

Seattle, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Reports that Senator Wesley L. Jones' condition was critical and that his family had been summoned to his bedside were denied here late today by his son, Harry B. Jones, a Seattle attorney.

The attorney said nurse told him his father was in "better condition than yesterday and was slowly regaining his strength." Senator Jones, defeated for reelection by Homer T. Bone, Tacoma Democrat, was overtaxed in the recent campaign and entered a sanitarium for a rest, members of the family said.

Diplomatic Liquor Gives Stimson Touchy Problem

Canceled Charge d'Affaires Claims Dr. Carlos Leiva Has Walked Off With Six Cases of Spirits Which He Ordered and Paid For.

(Associated Press.)

On the busy desk of the American Secretary of State was unfolded yesterday a little diplomatic drama, which might be entitled, "Six Cases of Liquor, or Who Gets the Goods?"

The plot was brief but gripping. In a sad and disillusioned note the unrecognized charge d'affaires of the El Salvadorean Legation complained that the recognized minister of that little Central American republic had skipped with half a dozen cases of his imported whisky.

The complaint was aimed at Dr. Carlos Leiva, who is still recognized by the State Department as minister, although his president—Araujo—has long since fled El Salvador and Leiva has devoted himself to the study of medicine in New York.

In the role of irate complainant was Roberto Melendez, who represents President Martinez, but whom the State Department scratched off its diplomatic list a few months ago. Melendez was secretary of the legation under Dr. Leiva.

It was Leiva who gained some national prominence last year when he surprised liquor thieves in his legation and received a blow on the head and other injuries that sent him to Europe to recuperate. Recently police raided the building, vacated by the legation some months ago and at the time of the raid occupied by others, for liquor.

Melendez in his letter to Secretary Stimson, indignantly set forth that he ordered the six cases of whisky in June, while still recognized as legation secretary, and paid for them in advance.

By the time they arrived, on an English boat, the department had dropped him from the diplomatic list.

Dr. Leiva, Melendez set forth, went to Baltimore on September 23, identified himself as the Salvadorean Minister and took the shipment, which was consigned to the legation.

Admitting Stimson could do nothing about the case now, Melendez wrote:

"I have brought it to your excellency's attention in order to state that I have never and never will permit the use of my name in any illicit transaction, including liquor matters."

The French and Belgian ambassadors had called at the Department of State in the course of the day to express their anxiety at the fate of their formal requests for postponement of their December 15 payments, due on the sums loaned their countries by the United States after the war.

Undersecretary of State William R. Castle, jr., is understood to have told the ambassadors that the answer to their debt queries lay in Congress. As the negotiations between the executive and the legislative agencies of government continue, the date for the payment of the war interest grows nearer. There is already some doubt that any action whatsoever can be taken by Congress in time for the date of payment.

Italy is the only one of the great powers that has not taken the formality of requesting the United States to prolong the Hoover moratorium until some more equable form of debt adjustment could be made. The State Department has made no reply to the British note, which was the forerunner of the others, and probably will not until the discussions of next week have definitely taken some positive action.

Hoover Is Silent.

President Hoover will not make known his mind on the recent action of the allied powers for postponement of their semiannual payments until he has had explored the entire field with his successor and with the leading figures of Capitol Hill.

As matters stand now the debt problem is entirely in the hands of a hostile Congress. There has been no indication that this Congress, and still less the one that comes after it, will accede to any plea for a reconsideration of the war debts that may involve radical revision.

The most that can be hoped is that the President secure from Congress the authorization that was denied him last year to recreate the World War Debt Funding Commission to examine the capacity to pay of the various countries in the light of their present-day finances.

Britain Likely to Pay.

However, it is doubtful if this can be accomplished in the remaining days before the time limit for foreign payments expires. Cable advices indicate that a formal default is in the offing from France and Belgium unless the United States agrees to the postponement.

Great Britain will in all probability pay, even though the British treasury will be forced to pay a premium of some 40 per cent of every dollar that is bought to cover the $95,550,000 that is due from them for principal and interest payments next month.

It is readily admitted in authoritative circles that the diplomatic representatives of those foreign countries that have applied for postponement have been singularly remiss in failing to warn their respective foreign offices of the impropriety of such a plea at this time. Sir Ronald Lindsay, the Ambassador of Great Britain, and French Ambassador Paul Claudel delivered in person the notes from their respective governments with reference to the payments of their national obligations to the United States. These same notes, if accompanied by the checks for the payments due, would have undoubtedly succeeded in winning American sympathy for a possible reconsideration of the British and French capacity to pay in these days of international depression.

Congress Hostility Grows.

As a result, the temper of the leaders in Congress has waxed vigorously against any reconsideration. What has already been said by various Congressional leaders was intensified by the statements of three influential House leaders headed by the Democratic whip Henry T. Rainey, Representative Louis T. MacFadden (Republican), of Pennsylvania, veteran of the banking and currency committee, and Sam D. McReynolds (Democrat), of South Carolina, who will be chairman of the foreign affairs committee, in the next House, who declared themselves opposed to any alteration of the debt status, either by a moratorium or a reduction.

Senators Peter P. Norbeck (Republican), of North Dakota, who is chairman of the banking and currency committee, and Henry F. Ashurst (Democrat), of Arizona, also joined the ranks of the opposition yesterday.

Representative Fred A. Britten, ranking Republican member of the naval affairs committee, intends to prosecute the defaulting European nations before the world court if they do not forward their checks to the Treasury on December 15. He said last night:

"If the ten principal European nations can not jointly pay us the insignificant sum of $123,641,698 on December 15, then we should hold them in default until they do pay.

"I will then present a congressional resolution directing the Secretary of State to take such steps before the world court as are necessary for the issuance of a proclamation announcing to the world that those nonpaying nations are insolvent and bankrupt and therefore irresponsible in international trade and diplomacy."

Bingham Opposes Change.

Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, in a statement of his views on the debt situation, said:

"The taxpayers of America are having a very serious time. They belong to a country called very rich but which has lost many billions of dollars of capital during the past three years. Much of this has come from loans to foreign governments who have not hesitated to default and are now in need of more loans.

"It seems to me extremely unfair for countries who borrowed good gold dollars from us—dollars which we borrowed from our own people and for which we gave Liberty bonds—to ask us to cancel or forgive the debts they owe us. * * *

"The only possible reason for official cancellation of foreign debts is to permit foreigners to borrow more money. I am absolutely opposed to laying a further burden on American taxpayers. The temporary good that might come from bolstering up foreign credit would be more than offset by encouraging the piling up of still greater Government indebtedness."

White House Announcements.

The White House announcement of the Wednesday morning meeting follows:

"The President has requested the three ranking Republican and Democratic members of the finance committee of the Senate and the ways and means committee of the House to meet with him on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock to discuss questions of foreign debt."

The almost equally brief announcement concerning the Hoover-Roosevelt conference on the preceding day, as handed out at the same time, read:

"The President and Gov. Roosevelt talked over the telephone this morning in respect to the meeting over the questions raised in the President's telegram of November 12.

"Gov. Roosevelt is arriving in Washington at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday and will come directly to the White House office. The conversations will be informal.

"The President will be accompanied by Secretary Mills. Gov. Roosevelt will be accompanied by some one interested in the subject."

PRESIDENT'S DEBT CONFERENCE WITH ROOSEVELT SET TUESDAY

President Hoover would confer with the Democratic leaders "at the earliest opportunity." Vice President-elect John N. Garner will also be among those conferring with the President-elect at Warm Springs and the fact that the present Speaker of the House will be the presiding officer of the Senate in the next administration lends additional emphasis to the debt policy that will be developed by the incoming administration.

The idea that President Hoover is believed to have had in mind was the maintenance of a definite continuity in the treatment of the debt problem which transcends the interests of partisan politics and is a matter of nonpartisan decision.

The suggestion that he invite the President-elect was in itself a daring innovation but was justified by the present dilemma in which the debt problem seems to be locked.

FEDERAL REVENUE SLUMP CONTINUES

(Associated Press.)

Even with a long list of new taxes, the Government closed the first four months of the current fiscal year far behind in income.

Total collections for the four months were $358,108,065. Collections for the corresponding period a year ago were $455,144,328.

A continued October slump contributed to the Government's $709,000,000 deficit reported on November 15. Then it had collected $632,879,258 and had spent $1,341,977,000.

October Collections.

October collections of all taxes reported yesterday by the Internal Revenue Bureau amounted to $89,849,895, compared with $72,356,032 in October, 1931, and $216,481,286 in September of this year.

The October drop was due to quarterly income tax collections in September, which amounted to $142,203,202, as compared with $13,062,580 collected from the same source in October.

While most of the new taxes showed increases—the gasoline tax leading the way with a total of $14,734,372—most of the old taxes continued to drop out. Income tax was down $10,000,000 from October, 1931; tobacco taxes, $3,237,295; estate taxes, $3,628,515 and miscellaneous taxes down $209,750.

Income taxes totaled $187,805,970 in the first four months as compared with $339,239,225 in the same period last year while tobacco taxes brought in $136,434,322, a drop of $9,959,880, and miscellaneous taxes $3,501,522 down $1,168,090.

Gasoline Returns High.

While the gasoline tax led the way in producing new revenue, bringing in $3,324,625 more than in September, some of the new taxes including those on checks, automobiles and motorcycles, brewers wort, malt, soft drinks and safety deposit boxes showed small declines.

Of the new taxes electrical energy produced $2,413,314 in October as compared with $2,039,800 in September, tires and tubes, $1,556,459, as compared with $1,336,658, and toilet preparations, $1,556,459, as compared with $849,118. Others which were up were furs, jewelry, automobile trucks, automobile parts and accessories, radios and phonographs, mechanical refrigerators, candy and chewing gum, telephone, telegraph and radio, pipe lines and lubricating oils.

The new taxes and increases in the old levies were designed to add $958,500,000 to the Government's revenue in 1933 but officials have said that the full measure of the new taxes would not begin to be reported until after the first of the year.

R. F. C. Grants Six States $1,042,000

(Associated Press.)

Winging relief to the impoverished of six States, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday authorized over $1,042,000 in loans, as follows:

Alabama, $123,774; Michigan, $225,000; North Dakota, $50,680; Virginia, 239,580; Washington, $190,000; West Virginia, $213,891.

The West Virginia loan of $213,891 is for use in Lewis, Clay, Tucker, Jackson, Brooke, Mercer, Kanawha and Monongalia Counties and Charleston and Morgantown. A similar amount was made available October 7 to cover the period from October 1 to November 15. The corporation had previously loaned West Virginia $836,400.

RANKIN LAMBASTS CHAIR CANDIDATES

the Speakership," Mr. Rankin said. "If they want to appeal to bosses on the outside, or attempt to raise sectional issues, that is their privilege. But I shall make my appeal to the untrammeled, unbossed members of the next House from all sections of the country."

His criticism was aimed at Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, Democratic floor leader of the present House, who is most likely to be chosen the next Speaker when John N. Garner, of Texas, retires to become Vice President, and at Representative Joseph Byrns, of Tennessee, and John McDuffie, of Alabama.

He belted Mr. Rainey with the sectionalism charge because the Illinoisan expects strong support from Democrats from the West, Midwest and North, in view of the preponderance of power Southern Democrats will have in the next House as chairmen of powerful committees.

"If I had to win the speakership by appealing to sectionalism," Mr. Rankin said, "I would withdraw from the race."

His criticism of Representatives McDuffie and Byrns was because of reported appeals to John F. Curry, boss of Tammany, for support of their candidacies. They might do as they pleased, but he wouldn't appeal to "any bosses on the outside," Mr. Rankin said. "We have had too much boss rule in this country already."

Rankin's Chances Poor.

Published statements about Mr. Curry keeping an open mind on the question, but prepared to stand by Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City, led to the conclusion that certain Eastern Democratic bosses contemplate dictating the organization of the House of Representatives," Mr. Rankin said, and he resented such outside interference and th majority of the next House would also, he insisted.

Political observers do not believe that Mr. Rankin has any chance of being elected Speaker. Although Representative Byrns has not formally announced his candidacy, he is looked on as the man Representative Rainey will have to beat for the place. One of the difficulties which confront the ambitions of Representative McDuffie is the fact that Representative John Bankhead, also of Alabama, is regarded as a determined candidate. Another who is regarded as a candidate, although he has not formally announce himself, is Representative John J. O'Connor, of New York.

Roosevelt to Dine As Guest of Press

(Associated Press.)

President-elect Roosevelt next Tuesday will meet several score with whom he often will be in contact after March 4—the corps of Washington newspaper correspondents.

As the guest of honor, he will be greeted by members of the National Press Club at an informal dinner for which plans were announced yesterday by Bascom N. Timmons, president of the club. The dinner will take place after Mr. Roosevelt's meeting with President Hoover.

Other close associates of the governor also will be guests, including James A. Farley and Frank Walker, chairman and treasurer, respectively, of the Democratic national committee, and Col. Louis McHenry Howe. Eugene S. Leggett, of the Detroit Free Press, was appointed chairman of the executive committee arranging the dinner.

Estep Questions Status Of Man Defeating Him

Pittsburgh, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Representative Harry A. Estep (Republican), Pennsylvania, today obtained an order from Federal Judge Nelson McVicar for a certified copy of the naturalization papers of Henry Ellenbogen (Democrat-Independent), who on the face of returns defeated Estep in the congressional contest in the Thirty-fourth District.

Estep said Ellenbogen became a citizen on June 17, 1926. The issue, as cited by Estep, is a constitutional requirement of seven years citizenship before taking office.

Honduran Insurgent Army Captures City Near Capital

(Associated Press.)

Dispatches arriving from Honduras, some of them delayed for as long as two days, indicate that the rebellion against the federal government there has taken a more serious turn than was apparent when the movement started last Monday.

Belated advices told of the success of the rebels in some encounters and of the severing of telegraphic communication between Tegucigalpa, the capital, and the west, south and east.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—President Mejia Colindres presided over an important cabinet meeting today, the purpose of which was to agree upon a unified plan of action to cope with the emergency resulting from the rebellion by liberal elements, who were defeated in the recent presidential election.

President-elect Tiburcio Carias Andino, former President P. Paz Baraona and all cabinet ministers and undersecretaries attended the meeting.

Meanwhile, the main body of the rebel army was reported to heve taken up a position in the city of Nacaome, about 60 miles southwest of Tegucigalpa.

It was officially reported that on Wednesday a strong group of the revolutionary forces took Pespire, 50 miles southwest of Tegucigalpa. This morning loyal trocps commanded by Gen. Joaquin Canales attacked the rebels and after three hours' fighting the insurgents evacuated Pespire. The number of casualties was unknown.

The revolutionaries retired toward Nacaome. Gen. Canales was waiting today for a loyal contingent commanded by Gen. Camilo Reina before pressing the attack. Loyal troops also were dispatched from San Pedro to Santa Barbara and Santa Rosa, centers of disaffection in the northwest.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Nov. 16 (delayed in transmission) (A.P.).—Troops were leaving Tegucigalpa hourly today to take the field against rebellious Liberals who have risen against the federal government. The authorities were carrying out a hurried mobilization and the whole country was said to be in what amounted to a state of war.

PRESIDENT-ELECT CARIAS.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Nov. 15 (delayed in transmission) (A.P.).—Rebels commanded by Gen. Carlos Lagos got control today of the important town of Nacaome in the southern district.

It also was reported that Comayagua, an important city about 60 miles northwest of Tegucigalpa, adhered to the rebel cause but was retaken by loyal troops commanded by Gen. Roque Rodriguez. The rebels in that vicinity were understood to be under Gen. Arturo Matute.

SHOWDOWN ON U. S. FURLOUGHS DUE AT START OF SHORT SESSION

last year's drive to defeat the pay cut, asked time to study the situation.

"I think it would be better to let the Government employes' case ride along until we find out how the Treasury is fixed," he said.

McDuffie Denies New Cut.

From Representative John McDuffie, of Alabama, Democratic whip, came emphatic denial that he would sponsor an additional pay cut at this session.

"I would like to make the load as light as possible, and for that reason opposed the furlough with its revocation of annual leave and other hardships," he said.

"I see little likelihood at this time, however, of repealing the furlough and substituting the 10 per cent pay cut I first proposed."

House Democratic Floor Leader Henry T. Rainey struck another note of pessimism. He said he saw little hope for restoring Government pay scales until the country is well on the road to business recovery.

Other Consolidations.

Representative Byrns said his proposal to merge War and Navy Departments is only one of a number of consolidations that must be effected in any program of economy. He pointed out that his plan was beaten only by little more than a score of votes last session.

"Extension of the pay cut would mean only $89,000,000 in the Treasury," he said.

"We must find other places to economize, outside of the appropriation bills, and reorganization presents the most fertile field.

"I don't know what Mr. Hoover plans to propose. But Congress clearly demonstrated last term it is incapable of formulating any sweeping program of reorganization. Such a program must come from the Executive. If Mr. Hoover fails to formulate one, I am confident Mr. Roosevelt will."

Brown Confers With Hoover.

Hearings on Postoffice appropriations, first of the supply bills to be taken up, will be brought to conclusion today. First Assistant Postmaster General Arch Coleman, testifying on carrier service and rural free delivery, and Second Assistant Warren Irving Glover, testifying on ocean mail contracts, were on the stand yesterday.

Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, who Wednesday recommended extension of the furlough to the House Postoffice-Treasury subcommittee, conferred yesterday with the President at the White House. Others in conference with the President on budget matters were Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ernest Lee Jahncke, and Director of the Budget J. Clawson Roop.

Secertary Hurley said War Department expenditures were being curtailed wherever possible, but that he was not proposing "a vacation in the national defense."

Secretary of Commerce Chapin said yesterday that his department will attempt to get through the present year without asking deficiency appropriations. To this end additional payless furloughs, affecting some 2,900 employes in bureaus short of funds, are planned.

FIRM CONTROL OF CONGRESS IS ROOSEVELT'S OBJECTIVE

gress assembles next year, Gov. Roosevelt already has revealed a lively interest in the contest for the Speakership. There is a widespread conviction among House Democrats that his word may influence the decision. No names have been mentioned in Mr. Roosevelt's discussions concerning the new Speaker, but he already has expressed a wish for a "strong man" to preside over the tremendous Democratic majority. In some quarters this hint has been interpreted as crushing to the aspirations of all five of the avowed candidates, while among the candidates themselves it has been received as a laudable indorsement of at least one Speakership boom.

Because he is determined to avoid any encroachment upon President Hoover's authority before March 4, Gov. Roosevelt will take no active part in legislative controversies once the short session has begun. Nevertheless, Democratic leaders in Congress have perfected arrangements under which the views of the President-elect may be made available on unquestioned authority on those occasions in which they may be required for the good of the party.

From the same senatorial sources came word yesterday that Gov. Roosevelt is keeping an open mind regarding a special session of Congress next spring until after the first of the year. Some of those who have conferred with the governor since election day express the opinion that much will depend on the course of business during the next two or three months. Should the recovery tide continue to gain headway with no more than normal seasonal setbacks between now and March, a special session would be less likely. If, however, some of the recent economic gains should be lost, or if the slowly reviving confidence of investors should cool preceptibly awaiting a clear definition of the new administration's policies, then a special session would be inevitable.

Many influential Democrats on Capitol Hill now are hopeful that a special session may be avoided. Their position is that a political holiday between March and December, 1933, probably would assist business recovery. They admit freely, however, that if recent marks of pronounced improvement are not sustained and fortified before the end of the short session on March 4 a special session of the new Congress immediately thereafter can not be avoided.

So concerned are some of Gov. Roosevelt's advisers here about the course of business during the next few months that they are urging upon the President-elect the wisdom of announcing promptly his selections for the three key posts in his Cabinet—the Secretary of State, the Secreary of the Treasury and the Attorney General.

Those who are pressing this course declare that the announcement of three strong names for these influential berths might go far to check the present growing spirit of uncertainty and hesitation in the world of business and finance.

Mr. Roosevelt has annouced publicly he will not even consider Cabinet appointments until he has completed his term as Governor of New York, in January. But some of his friends are hopeful that he may reconsider this decision and name three or four prospective appointees before the short session of Congress begins.

Phychem Team Leads Federal Bridge Group

By virtue of a stinging defeat handed the Department of Agriculture's Fixed Nitrogen Unit, the Bureau of Standards Phychem team is rated at the top of the Federal Bridge League, according to figures released yesterday by George C. Hill, official scorer of the organization. The Phychems have won 34 games to date.

The Treasury Amateurs, former leaders in the race for the National Federation of Federal Employes Trophy, now roost in second place of the contract section, while the Hydrographers of War Department are the top team of the auction division. The next play is scheduled for the Hotel Carlton on Tuesday.

Dry Revision Opposed By Southern Baptists

Atlanta, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Baptist State conventions in Tennessee, Arkansas, Georgia and South Carolina went on record today in opposition to any change in the prohibition laws and the Baptists of Alabama issued a call for a meeting in that State of prohibition forces to form an organization "which shall oppose all men or measures" seeking any revision in the national or State acts.

The State-wide gathering of prohibitionists in Alabama was set for December 6 to coincide with the opening of Congress.

HOOVER ARMS PLAN CALLED PEACE GIFT

(Associated Press.)

Praising the Hoover plan for disarmament as "the President's great gift to the world," Miss Mary Woolley, the only woman representing this country at the Geneva Disarmament Conference, yesterday expressed confidence the plan would lose none of its prestige through the change of administrations.

Miss Woolley, whose work for peace was highly complimented by the President in campaign speeches, visited him yesterday at noon. When she emerged from his office she said she had "talked Geneva," which she termed her "one big interest now."

Her return there, she said, "depends upon Congress," since there must be a new appropriation to take the American delegation over when the disarmament conference reconvenes, probably in January.

"I feel the Hoover plan of one-third reduction, based on the Kellogg-Briand pact, was the great constructive thing done—there is no question about it," she said.

Hoover Plan Stimulant.

"Last June, the situation was depressed. Something was needed to galvanize it into action. After the President announced his plan of June 19, everything centered about his principle.

"We made a splendid start. Informal conferences going on now still have his plan as their basis. My fear has been that, with the President's defeat, the other nations will have another chance to say: 'You Americans are good at beginning.'"

Miss Woolley refersred to the time when a Democratic President, Woodrow Wilson, failed, in defeat, to see his world-fellowship plans carried out. She added:

"They say over there: 'You began the League of Nations, but you don't belong to it. You started the World Court, but you didn't join it.' My fear has been that they might add, 'You launched the Hoover plan, but you didn't carry on.'"

Confirmed Walker.

With sturdy steps—she says she enjoys walking—Miss Woolley swung off on a ten-minute trek to a board meeting she was holding as president of the American Association of University Women.

As she walked she gave emphatic indorsement to women in diplomatic and international parley positions. Five countries, she said, Great Britain, Canada, Uruguay, Poland and the United States each had one woman delegate at Geneva.

"Men and women work together to great advantage in a general cause," she said. "And there can be no question about the competency of women to grasp international questions. My most intelligent letters and cables came from women."

Roosevelt Is Made Grandfather Again

Wife of His Second Son, Elliott, Is Mother of 8-Pound Boy.

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—A son was born today to Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt the fourth grandchild of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The baby weighed 8 pounds and was said to be doing nicely, as was the mother, who was the former Betty Donner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Donner, of Villanova, Pa.

Gov. Roosevelt received the news in an early morning telephone call to Albany. Mrs. Roosevelt caught a 3:18 a. m. train on a half hour's notice, and with $10 borrowed from a secret service man made a fast trip to New York. She arrived at the hospital soon after the baby had been born. Elliott Roosevelt is the governor's second son. No name has been selected for the infant yet.

Mrs. Byrne Again Named by U. D. C.

Baltimore Picked for '33 Convention; Heroines of South Honored.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 17 (A.P.).—The United Daughters of the Confederacy today reelected their incumbent administration and elected two of their best beloved members honorary presidents for life. Baltimore was selected for the 1933 convention.

Reelected as president general, Mrs. William E. R. Byrne, of Charleston, W. Va., said she accepted the honor as a commission to go ahead with the organization's chief ideal—"that of keeping alive the splendid traditions of the Southland."

For their devotion to the ideals of the U. D. C., Mrs. T. W. Faison, of Charlotte, N. C., and Mrs. Gordon Smith, Augusta, Ga., were elected honor presidents.

New officers elected to serve with Mrs. Byrne are Mrs. Charles MacKaill, of Baltimore, second vice president general; Mrs. Glen Long, New Bern, N. C., recording secretary general; Mrs. J. E. Davenport, Norfolk, Va., register general, and Mrs. J. Sumter Rhame, Charleston, S. C., custodian of crosses of honor and service.

M'KEE SEEN LEADING COALITION CAMPAIGN

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—An uprising against Tammany control of the New York City government, with Acting Mayor Joseph V. McKee leading the way, was seen in many quarters tonight.

McKee himself stirred up the political speculation with an address last night before the State Chamber of Commerce in which he called for a "change" and declared voters are "sick and tired" of present conditions.

Several Republican leaders who praised the talk were among those who predicted McKee would lead the battle by running as a fusion candidate against the Tammany organization candidate for mayor next November.

Seabury Is Pleased.

In a telegram to McKee congratulating him on his speech, Samuel Seabury, who directed the legislative investigation into the Tammany-controlled government, said:

"It is surely time that an official of our city should speak out as you have spoken. The fact that you have done so will encourage others whose fears have kept them silent for so long a time.

"If you keep on in this way, it can not be long before the Currys, McCooeys and others who are responsible for the conditions which you describe will be driven from control, and a better day dawn for our city."

Spirit of Crusading.

John F. Curry, leader of Tammany, and John H. McCooey, who is allied with Curry as Democratic leader in Brooklyn, made no comment, either on McKee's talk or Seabury's telegram.

McKee in his talk had not mentioned Tammany by name. He traced his own political career and mentioned that 137,424 voters had written his name in on the ballot in the mayoralty election last week. Then he said:

"I tell you there is a crusading spirit abroad in our city. And that spirit is not going to be denied. • • •

"We need a change, and whether it comes through the name of a political party or an individual, a change must come for the better, and I may say it will come and not long in the future of this city."

POMERENE ATTACKS 'PARASITE' BANKERS

Few Houses, 75 Per Cent or More Liquid, Assailed for Withholding Loans.

Boston, Nov. 17 A.P.).—Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, today assailed as "parasites" banks which, while being 75 per cent or more liquid, refuse to make loans when proper security is offered.

Chairman Pomerene estimated that approximately 10 per cent of the banks of the country fell into this class and said, "Were it not for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the entire country would be at their mercy." Pomerene's attack was made in the course of an address on the operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation delivered before the eighth New England conference, sponsored by the New England council.

He estimated "that 90 per cent of the banks, all things considered, have done their full duty to their depositors and borrowers and to the communities which they serve."

Speaking on the same program, Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts said that if "Southern textile States and others" did not raise their labor legislation standards toward those of Massachusetts, the Bay State would be forced to lower its standards to place its industries in competition with those of outside States.

KNUTSON CAPTURES RACE IN MINNESOTA

St. Cloud Man Winner Over Andresen in Fight for Ninth House Seat.

St. Paul, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Harold Knutson, of St. Cloud, was 1,104 votes ahead of August H. Andresen, of Redwing for ninth place in the congressional race following tabulation of returns—official and unofficial—from all of the State's 3,716 precincts tonight. Both are Republican incumbents.

Knutson's total vote was 313,212, against 312,108 for Andresen. With a margin of more than 3,000 votes over Knutson, F. H. Shoemaker, of Redwing, Farmer-Laborite, occupied eighth position in the line-up, while Einar Holdale, Minneapolis Democrat, was safe in seventh place.

The final unofficial tabulation included official figures from nearly all the counties in the State. Where the official vote was lacking, the unofficial totals were added with the result that Andresen was pushed into tenth place. The State canvassing board meets Tuesday to get the complete official figures.

Holding down the first six places in the following order are Magnus Johnson, of Kimball; P. J. Kvale, incumbent, of Benson; Henry Arens, of Jordan, and Ernest Lundren, of Minneapolis, all Farmer-Laborites; Theodore Christianson, of Dawson, and Ray P. Chase, of Anoka, both Republicans.

MURDERER HUNTED AS GIRL'S KIDNAPER

Chicago Crime Victim Tells How Youth Threatened and Attacked Her.

Chicago, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—A night of horror lingered in the memory of a girl today as she recovered from the treatment she underwent at the hands of a ruthless kidnap-killer who abducted her from her escort and boasted that he had just killed another woman's companion. She was forced to drive her ravisher about the streets for hours.

The girl victim, Lillian Henry, 20, niece of Deputy Police Commissioner John Alcock, described the killer as about 20 years old and with an apparent grudge against society.

Police started a hunt tonight for James Varecha, 19, described by them as a dangerous criminal, who escaped from the State School for Epileptics at Dixon, Ill. His description fitted that of the killer, police said.

Girl's Life Threatened.

Miss Henry, who was held captive for four hours and twice attacked, furnished police with a description of him. She said he threatened to kill her and held a pistol against her side.

The fugitive's terrorism began when he attempted to rob Frank F. Jordan, 38. Seated in an automobile with a woman companion, Jordan moved to resist and promptly was shot to death.

Next he appeared at an automobile in which Miss Henry and James Guisinger were seated. He opened a door, flourished a weapon and entered the machine.

"He made Mr. Guisinger drive into an alley," Miss Henry said. "Then he tore the collar from my dress and used it to tie his hands. He gagged him with handkerchiefs and placed him in the rumble seat.

"We drove around for what seemed to be hours. He held the gun in his right hand, continually threatening us."

Boasted of Prison Record.

Miss Henry said the man released Guisinger near his home. He rode in the car almost to Miss Henry's home, then fled.

During the ride, she said, the abductor boasted of having been in prison. He said, she reported, that his mother died and a brother was shot and killed by a policeman while he was imprisoned.

Near where Jordan was killed was found a bullet similar to one with which James McElligott, a salesman, was wounded under similar circumstances a week ago.

Young Varecha's family told police they had not seen him for a month and that he had been arrested many times for robbery. His home was in the neighborhood where the killing and abduction took place.

Every available policeman was assigned to a wide South Side area surrounding the scenes of the crime. Police Commissioner John Allman described the killing as "the most vicious in several years."

Beer Law Sought By Business Men

Federation Also Goes on Record in Favor of Great Inaugural Pageant.

After a short discussion the Federation of Business Men's Associations, meeting in the Ann Clarendon Club last night, went on record as being emphatically in favor of the legalization of beer at the coming short session of Congress.

The federation also went on record as being in favor of a large inauguration celebration in March and a resolution was passed and carried requesting that the residents of the District be given the right to vote and to be represented in Congress.

Thomas P. Littlepage, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, was guest speaker and spoke on the aims and purposes of the chamber and explained the object of the proposed ferry across the Chesapeake Bay to southern Maryland. He said that by placing the ferry in operation in conjunction with the Chesapeake Beach Railroad, Washington would be the recipient of a great deal of business that is now going to Baltimore. It would also place the residents of southern Maryland a distance of only 40 miles from the Capital, he said.

FIREMAN IS INJURED IN RUN TO BONFIRE

occupants should one chance to come along were overheard. None did.

Policeman John Foster, operating the Fifth Precinct emergency car, sustained a fracture of the little finger of his right hand in a scuffle with several students. The revelers had surrounded his car and were attempting to tip it over. He climbed out and the scuffle ensued.

Two wooden shacks beside the railroad tracks were set afire. Both of these blazes were blamed on students by police, but the students blamed boys in the neighborhood.

Following the rampage there were reports that police used tear gas and drawn revolvers in attempting to quell the students. Police said this was untrue.

Tiring of their activities on Michigan avenue, students went to the Monroe street bridge over the railroad. There they amused themselves stalling street cars by pulling down the trolley poles from the overhead wires.

Advices from the university said that youngsters from Brookland stole a march on the students and sneaked past guards to light the bonfire while the rally in the gymnasium was still in progress. Three alarms of fire were turned in.

It was fortunate that the crash on Georgia avenue was not more serious. Adams' car was demolished, but his injuries were slight. The fire truck, driven by Thomas Dixon, had to be towed back to the firehouse.

6 CALIFORNIANS HURT BY ANTIRED RAIDERS

Gathering at Residence in Long Beach Broken Up by Klansmen.

Long Beach, Calif., Nov. 17 (A.P.).—A band of men representing themselves as Ku Klux Klansmen made an anti-Communist raid early today on a private residence here where nine persons were gathered.

Four of the nine persons were injured, two others were reported severely beaten and four of the sixteen raiders arrested were held on suspicion of assault.

The others, including four men claiming to be Orange County peace officers with permits to carry weapons, were released.

The raid was at the home of Dave Milder, 6-year-old tailor. A fiery cross, made of gasoline-soaked wood, was planted in his yard. Officers said they found about the premises handbills bearing the hooded insignia of the klan and the notation, "Communism will not be tolerated. The Ku Klux Klan rides again!"

Asked if he and his friends and relatives in the house were Communists, Milder said: "We are of a following which some people object to."

Mildred suffered a severe scalp wound. A shoulder of his son, Sam, was broken. Carl Kirchner, of San Pedro, Calif., received a fracture of one leg.

Milder's daughter, Mrs. Alvina Goodwin, 32, former university student, was knocked to the floor and bruised. Another young woman, Mildred Watson, also a former university student, was roughly handled but was not hurt.

Ben Isgar, 20, of Los Angeles, and Nathan J. Cytron, of San Pedro, were said to have been severely beaten.

Milder protested that the gathering at his home was not a meeting of Communists, but was merely a social affair. He said there "must have been 50" men in his yard when his wife went to the front door and ask what they wanted.

J. P. Morgan Sees Hopeful Business

Financier, Returning From Europe, Breaks Rule of Silence.

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—J. Pierpont Morgan returned from a European trip today aboard the Europa. Usually, Morgan's words are something like "How do you do?" or "I haven't anything to say."

But today the financier abandoned his silence long enough to say he's found "a more hopeful attitude" in Europe toward the general outlook. The financier was asked if he would advance a reason for optimism. "There must be some justification," he said. And that was all.

Among the other notables aboard the Europa were Viscount Astor, Grand Duchess Marie of Russia, Mrs. Gene Tunney, Lion Feuchtwanger, German writer, and Joseph Hergesheimer, the American novelist, who said that on this last trip he'd "taught the Germans such excellent English words as lousy and swell."

"Who paid you the money?"

"A man named Clinton Sowers," she said.

Other members of the committee present were Representatives John E. Nelson (Republican), Maine, and Byron B. Harlan (Democrat), Ohio.

Nelson frequently clashed with Wilson, who conducted the examination of witnesses. Nelson wanted Wilson to give specific instances of fraud, and Wilson responded that he was trying to bring that out, but was being objected to by Nelson.

Wilson declared to the committee that the Republican organization caused a $1,500,000 city loan to be made just before the election, for city pay roll purposes, so that the jobholders would have money to pay their political assessments.

James M. Hazlett, chairman of the Republican city committee and recorder of deeds of Philadelphia, who was on the witness stand at the time, denied that this was the case.

Representative Nelson wanted to know what this had to do with fraud, and Wilson responded that it was part of the "rotten system" in Philadelphia in running the elections.

1,000 MINERS DEFY TEAR GAS ASSAULT

Illinois Pickets Win Day by Blocking All Save One "Breaker" Car.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 17. (A.P.).—Tear gas bombs were used by the State highway police today in an unsuccessful attempt to quell a disturbance caused by 1,000 "Progressive Union" miners' pickets at the Peabody Coal Co.'s Cora mine.

The men were jammed in so tightly that those affected by the gas were unable to withdraw and no further gas was used. The pickets, however, won the day, as only a single automobile load of United Mine Workers of America were able to run the gantlet.

The two unions have been at loggerheads for several months and although both have signed almost identical basic wage scale contracts at $5 a day, the Progressive Union has sought to prevent the United miner group from working in this State.

Open clashes have occurred at several places in the coal fields and at times virtually an entire regiment of National Guardsmen have been on duty to keep order. No troops were detailed to the region of the clash today.

Two miners were beaten severely and their car was demolished by the pickets. Yesterday Robert J. Christ, chief engineer of the mine, was shot in the shoulder and three company men were beaten. None was dangerously injured.

Peabody officers said tomorrow would be a "work day," and that a determined effort would be made to hoist coal.

Chief Walter Moody, of the State highway police, threw five tear gas bombs into the mob, and after the situation became tense, joined with Acting Sheriff William Beynon in telephoning Adjt. Gen. Carlos E. Black for a conference. Beynon and Moody decided to swear in an additional force of special deputies.

Adjt. Gen. Black will have an observer at the mine tomorrow and will be ready to act in case of emergency.

D. C. Held Bound By Volstead Act

Sheppard Law Provisions Repealed by Statute, Bride Says.

The provisions of the Sheppard law relating to "the manufacture, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquor in the District" were repealed by the Volstead act, in the opinion of Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, it was revealed yesterday after the District Commissioners had received an inquiry from John P. Dryden, executive commander of the Washington branch of the Crusaders.

While withholding his formal opinion pending receipt of the Crusaders' letter, Mr. Bride made public an opinion he had written on November 22, 1927, on the same question.

Declaring that the corporation counsel's office had ruled on the issue several times before he took charge, Mr. Bride explained that he was in absolute accord with the views previously expressed that "the provisions of the Sheppard law in these regards (concerning the manufacture, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquor) were repealed by the national prohibition act."

VON PAPEN AND ALL HIS CABINET RESIGN

He Goes Out to Make Room for Others in "National Concentration."

Berlin, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Chancellor Franz von Papen, who has directed the German government for a little less than six months, resigned today, taking his whole cabinet out with him, in the face of almost unanimous opposition in the new Reichstag.

He goes out to make room for others in an effort to realize President von Hindenburg's ideal of a cabinet of "national concentration" appointed by and primarily responsible to the president, but supported or at least tolerated by a majority of the Reichstag.

The communique announcing the resignation said the cabinet had retired because "it wishes to clear the way for the president so that he, as the leader of the nation and with the high authority of his office, may bring about the consolidation of all truly national forces which alone can assure Germany's future.

"Under the present conditions, the government believes it acts in the best interests of the Fatherland if it returns its offices to the president. In so doing it acts in accordance with the often-pronounced principle (without yielding the principle of authoritary government) that personal considerations have no place in so serious an hour."

The president accepted the resignations. His first move probably will be to appeal personally to the several party leaders. The next few days will show whether he can find a man who can command both his confidence and that of the Parliament.

Such an appointee must agree to continue Germany's foreign policy as it is conducted at present, and to carry out at least that portion of Chancellor von Papen's economic program designed to reduce unemployment.

Attitude Toward Hitler.

The president desires to end this cabinet crisis as quickly as possible, it was said tonight, but probably he will take his time as usual to think over all angles of the situation, reaching his decision in the solitude of his own study.

His attitude toward Adolf Hitler, the National Socialist leader, is not known, but Hitler informed Chancellor von Papen by letter yesterday that there could be no dealings between them and that he would confer with the president only if he were assured Von Papen would not be there.

Meantime, the Von Papen cabinet will remain in office until a new chancellor is appointed. The Reichstag convenes on December 6.

Buckhannon Student, 21, Marooned With Companion Off Alaskan Coast as Sequel to Hunt for Gold; Lived on Wild Game After Food Was Gone.

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Nov. 17.—Russell J. Phillips, 21, Buckhannon student, has been rescued after being marooned five months and facing death from exposure or starvation on Chirikoff Island, a lonely spot of seabound earth off the Alaskan Coast.

The welcome news was received today by Russell's worried father, Claude E. Phillips, of North Buckhannon, who had not heard from the son in nearly seven months.

Russell left Buckhannon last February to hunt gold. With a mining party he landed on Chirikoff Island, April 27. When other members of the party left June 16, Phillips and a friend, Edward C. Barker, 19, remained behind to be picked up by a trading vessel which was scheduled to call at the island a little later. The trading ship came for them but was unable to land at the island. Phillips told his father. The island has no harbor and can not be approached in rough weather. At the time the young men did not know the ship had come and they waited for it in vain.

Their provisions got lower and finally were all consumed. They became hungrier and weaker, but managed to exist by occasionally killing wild game. They got terribly lonely. They had a violin and ukulele but the strings soon broke. They even fought to pass away the time.

One evening recently they saw a vessel 2 miles off shore. They signaled with a pocket flashlight and got an answering flash from the ship. The next morning three fishermen from the Pacific landed in a small dory and took the castaways on board. On arrival at Seattle, Phillips immediately got in communication with his father.

The terrible experience has not dampened the spirits of the youthful gold seeker, however. "I'm going back," he told his father. "And we're going to get gold."

DAILY CHEST RECORD BROKEN AS DONATIONS REACH $241,464

efforts in its behalf will be crowned with success."

Mgr. Eugene J. Connelly, of St. Peter's Church, who made the principal talk of the day, glorified the virtue of giving.

"It seems almost unnecessary for me to try to say anything in the way of inspiration when inspiration is the very atmosphere of this community," said Mgr. Connelly. "However, we are not here for our own selves, but principally for our other brothers and sisters throughout the city who may need our inspiration. We want to teach them by our work and our example the glory of the virtue of giving.

Giving Thing of Beauty.

"Giving is naturally a beautiful thing, but God gave it a supernatural grandeur. He gave us existence. He gave us a soul with its wondrous facilities. He gave us parents who gave us life and in their love and labor painted with joyous colors the glorious scenes of our childhood.

"I look around me and see the men and women of this city who are so interested in the sorrows and sufferings of their fellow men and women. You are inspiring me rather than I you. Your zeal, as shown here today, should send you forth as an unconquerable army to touch the souls, the hearts and the pocketbooks of those who have drawn around them the curtains of selfishness. May this wonderful virtue throw its reflection down every avenue and byway of our city and show that it is more glorious to look up to God for inspiration than to seek the ways of the lowly. May God's blessing go with you in this wonderful mission that is yours."

Honors Are Awarded.

Following the invocation by the Rev. Harvey Baker Smith, of the Columbia Heights Christian Church, and selections by the Bernheimer Trio, Chairman Noyes announced the awarding of honor banners for the day as follows:

Mrs. Charles Goldsmith, for the highest percentage dollar quota team in the special gifts unit; Miss Bertha Marsh, captain of team 123, Area I, the honor team in the Metropolitan unit; J. L. Gelbman, chairman of Division I, Area IV, the honor division of the Metropolitan unit; George Vass, Area V, for the highest percentage of 100 per cent firms in group solicitation area; Earl Kurtz, section 6 of Area V, for the highest percentage of 100 per cent firms in a group solicitation section.

In the governmental unit the banners for the highest dollar percentage for departments of less than 50 employes went to James E. Mangum, chairman of the American Battle Monuments Commission; for departments of 50 to 100 employes, Commissioner Claude L. Draper, of the Federal Power Commission; for departments of 100 to 1,000 employes, Carroll Noell and Mrs. Phyllis E. Stewart, of the Federal Reserve Board, and for departments of more than 1,000 personnel, Frank A. Birgfeld, of the United States Treasury Department.

Guests Introduced.

Chairman Noyes introduced the guests of honor for the day, including Mrs. Newbold Noyes, wife of the campaign chairman; Mrs. E. C. Graham, wife of the president of the Chest; Ernie Pyle, managing editor of the Washington Daily News, and Corcoran Thom, president of the American Security & Trust Co. and former chairman of the Chest budget committee.

The schools unit, represented by the Rev. Laurence J. Shehan, assistant director of the Catholic Charities, made his first report of the campaign, showing contributions from twelve schools to the amount of $1,235.69.

Gov. Thomas E. Campbell, chairman of the governmental unit, introduced his department heads, who reported for that unit. These were followed by the reports of the metropolitan unit, led by Chairman H. L. Rust, jr.; the group solicitation unit, led by Lloyd B. Wilson, and the report of the special gifts unit, made by Chairman Clarence A. Aspinwall, who reported the largest single contribution received so far in the campaign, a gift of $45,000 from the Evening Star Co. A rising ovation greeted the announcement of this gift.

Overhead Cut Down.

President E. C. Graham yesterday called attention to the extremely low cost of raising funds through the Community Chest method. He pointed out that of the entire amount contributed, only 3 per cent is used for campaign purposes and 3 per cent for the administration of funds through the year, a total of 6 per cent, as compared with the old-time costs of 15 to 35 per cent under the separate campaign method of solicitation.

Some unusual gifts were reported by the Chest workers yesterday. One worker reported that a couple who gave $5,000 last year and whose income had been reduced about 30 per cent, increased their gift to $6,000 this year because of the urgent need.

Harry K. Boss, calling on a prospect, found nobody at home but a small boy. The youngster expressed his interest in the Chest and insisted on giving Mr. Boss 25 cents, which he had saved up to buy a cap pistol.

Another touching story of good will to the Chest came from a group solicitation worker who reported that an employe of Lansburgh & Bro., who is ill in the hospital, sent in to the store for his Chest pledge card in order that he might do his part toward putting the store over 100 per cent for the Chest.

Woman Offers Puppy.

The son of one of the Metropolitan Division captains sent a check for $50 to the Community Chest as a birthday present to his mother, with a letter explaining that he believed she would appreciate that kind of a gift more than one of a personal nature.

Another lady, unable to contribute money this year, offered to give a $100 Pekingese puppy to be auctioned off for the Chest.

Newbold Noyes, campaign chairman, while soliciting yesterday, was attracted by a group of men digging a ditch for the Washington Gas Light Co. While watching them work, his Community Chest button attracted the attention of one of the men, who told him that they all believed in the Chest and that the three white men there had given 5 cents a day, or $18.25 a year, and that the two colored men had given $7.50 each. Encouraged by this display of interest, Mr. Noyes went on to solicit his prospect and not only obtained a gift of $11,000, but was told that if through any chance the Chest failed to reach its goal, he should come back for more.

Chinese Offers Dollar.

A bill poster, distributing Chest posters, placed one in a Chinese laundry in Anacostia and with great difficulty evaded accepting a dollar which the Chinese insisted on giving to the Chest. The name of the would-be donor was turned over to a solicitor.

Organizations, the employes of which have contributed 100 per cent to the Community Chest, were announced yesterday as follows:

Southern Hotel Supply Co., Dismer Hardware Co., Boss & Phelps, Child Guidance Clinic, United Hebrew Relief Association, Boys Club of Washington, American Nature Association, Frank R. Jelleff Co., Loomis, Sayles & Co., McLachlen Banking Corporation, Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., Seventh Street Savings Bank, Southern Building, Stroud, Kurtz & Co., and Washington Savings Bank.

Cut in Floral Tributes To Unknown Planned

That two floral tributes only be placed at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier each Armistice Day will be advocated by the District Chapter of the Gold Star Mothers. One of these tributes would be from the President of the United States and the other from "a grateful people," according to the organization's idea.

The Gold Star Mothers plan to seek the cooperation of other patriotic organizations in fostering their plan, it was learned yesterday.

How Coughs and Colds Yield to Creosote

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

Harmony Urged In Advertising

Hecht Company Official Is Heard at National Convention.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 17.—More selling of goods and more profit would result if the manufacturer and the national advertiser would get together with the retail merchant and the distributer on a common meeting ground with the customer, Charles B. Dulcan, sr., vice president and general manager of the Hecht Co., said tonight at the convention of the Association of National Advertisers here.

"Ly goes without saying," he said, "that we retailers must have knowledge before we can transmit that knowledge to others. So I strongly recommend that when a manufacturer designs a product that he make it easy for us to tell our sales people and our customers about it.

"As an instance of cooperation may I say that I am a firm believer in national advertising in newspapers and magazines. The local newspaper is the logical tie-up with national advertising."

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 17.—Rear Admiral Edward E. Hayden, U. S. N., retired, died today at the Johns Hopkins Hospital after a blood transfusion, for which a physician on the hospital staff volunteered, had been unavailing.

A blod clot caused the admiral's death, according to a member of his family. He was 73 years old. Mrs. Hayden was with him when he died.

Funeral services will be held at St. Andrew's Church, Washington, Saturday. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery. Admiral Hayden lived at the Wyoming Apartments, in the Capital.

He was attached to and served with the staff of the Smithsonian Institution on scientific duty, and in 1882 accompanied a United States geological survey to the Grand Canyon and the Cascade Range, in Oregon, in 1883.

During this expedition the admiral, then en ensign, met with an accident which resulted in the loss of a leg. He was placed on the retired list in 1885 and became engaged in research at the Harvard College Observatory and later in similar work at the hydrographic office in Washington.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by a son, Capt. Reynolds Hayden, U. S. N. (medical corps), who is on duty at the Marine Barracks at Quantico, Va.

Takoma Bank Is Denied 16-Foot Setback Right

The application of the Citizens Bank of Takoma Park, Md., for a permit to enlarge its present building to a 16-foot setback was disapproved last night by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission. The commission voted to notify the bank that a 20-foot setback would be approved.

The setback urged by the bank would cause its front to project about 4 feet beyond the other buildings on Carroll avenue. The commission held that the symmetry of the block would be destroyed as well as producing an impediment in the form of a substantial structure when it becomes necessary to widen Carroll avenue for the increased traffic expected within a few years.

Alleged Liquor Is Found In Secret Auto Pocket

Two persons were arrested yesterday after a Prince Georges County policeman had found two cases of alleged liquor stowed in a secret compartment made of chicken wire under their car near Silver Hill, Md.

Robert Digges, of Washington, driver of the car, was charged with transportation and possession, while Gladys Lewis, also of Washington, was charged with possession. Policeman William E. Clifton said that chicken wire had been stretched across the bottom of the frame of the automobile, forming a pocket just large enough for two cases of half gallon jars.

Cape Town Aviation Fans Watch for Amy Johnson

British Woman Expected to Break Husband's Mark by Many Hours.

Cape Town, South Africa (Friday), Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Large crowds assembled at the airport early today in the hope of seeing Amy Johnson end her flight from England and better the time of her husband, Capt. J. A. Mollison, for the 6,200-mile journey.

There was great excitement in Cape Town as word got abroad that the British airwoman had taken off from Mossamedes, 1,200 miles up the West Coast, at 8 o'clock last night. She was expected to land here in time to cut approximately sixteen hours from her husband's record of four days, seventeen hours, nineteen minutes.

From there she flew to Gao, French West Africa, and thence to Douala, Cameroons, across hundreds of miles of dense forest, in which a forced-down flier probably never would be found.

Her next goal was Mossamedes, but lack of oil pressure heated the engine of her plane and she was forced down at Benguela, 200 miles short. For a time it looked as though her flight was ended there, but she worked hard over the engine and got it working well enough to carry her on.

AMY JOHNSON MOLLISON.

The 1,000-mile leg from Douala was the worst of the entire flight. Torrential rain made it impossible for her to see much more than the line of breakers marking the shore. Flying low, she followed that line, occasionally pulling up the nose of her ship to get over jutting cliffs that loomed suddenly out of the murk.

BRITISH ARMS PLAN MAY SATISFY REICH

Definite Move Is Made to Bring Germany Back to Conference.

Geneva, Switzerland, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Great Britain made a definite move to bring Germany back into the disarmament conference today when Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, submitted to the conference bureau a plan designed to satisfy the German demand for arms equality.

His proposals approached the problem from an entirely different angle from that taken by the French plan submitted last week, but the conferees were hopeful that a combination of the principles of both might provide a basis on which the conference could reunite and proceed toward a disarmament treaty.

Like the French proposal, the British contribution was favorably received. Norman Davis, the American delegate; Augusto Rosso, for Italy, and the other chief delegates emphasized especially the necessity for bringing Germany back to the conference table.

Rests on Four Points.

The British plan for solving the equality issue rests upon four points.

First, it provides for reaffirmation by the European powers of the Kellogg pact. It suggests that "all European states should join in a solemn affirmation that they will not under any circumstances attempt to solve any present or future differences between them by resort to force." This would reengage Germany not to seek revision of the Treaty of Versailles by the use of force.

Second, the plan provides that "limitation of Germany's armaments should be accomplished by the same disarmament convention which will define the limitations of the armaments of others." This, Sir John explained, means that the limits of the new treaty, voluntarily accepted by all States, will substitute for Germany and her defeated allies in the World War the restrictive clauses of the peace treaties.

Treaty Limitations.

Third, "The newly expressed limitations in the case of Germany would last for the same period and be subject to the same methods of revision as those for all other countries." Here again the principle of equality would be recognized. Instead of the restrictions imposed by the Versailles Treaty, which are without time limit, Germany would be bound under the new convention for the same time as other powers. The period now contemplated is between ten and twenty years.

The fourth point concerns Germany's request that she be permitted the same kind of arms as the others.

"If a status of equality is to be conceded," said Sir John, "the principle of qualitative equality must be acknowledged. The government of the United Kingdom declares its willingness, in cooperation with the other members of the disarmament conference, to see that this principle is embodied in the new convention."

Arms and War Debt.

This principle, he said, admittedly envisages rearmament to a certain extent. But he made it clear that Great Britain is opposed to Germany's increasing its aggressive strength.

The principles he enunciated for Germany apply also to Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria, he said.

Mr. Davis, commending these efforts to bring Germany back to the conference, appealed for real action toward disarmament in terms which were interpreted in some quarters as reiterating the suggestion that there is a vital connection between the reduction of arms and the American attitude toward its European debtors.

"If we are to find a way out of the economic depression," he said, "the disarmament conference must reach practical results. The economic debacle constitutes a graver menace to security than does direct aggression."

Droop's Music House Observes 75th Year

The house of E. F. Droop & Sons Co. celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary yesterday.

The association of the name Droop with the music business in Washington started in 1857, when Edward F. Droop, the founder of the house, joined the piano house of W. C. Metzerott, corner of Eleventh street and Pennsylvania avenue.

Following the death of Mr. Metzerott, Mr. Droop pursued his business career under his own name at 925 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Mr. Droop passed away in 1908, leaving his two sons, his partners, Edward H. and Carl A., to continue his work.

The present building is at Thirteenth and G streets northwest, where the business is conducted by Mr. Droop's sons as E. F. Droop & Sons Company.

An increase of 196 persons in the daily average population of St. Elizabeths Hospital for the Insane during the past year was noted in the annual report of Dr. William A. White, superintendent, which was made public yesterday. The average population figure was 4,798.

Announcement of the opening of the new tuberculosis building, with 80 beds, was made. The report also stated that a contract had been awarded for two continuous treatment buildings, and that construction had been begun on the new male receiving building, which will have a capacity of 400 beds.

On June 30 there were 4,930 patients in the hospital—an increase of 209 over the previous year, the report stated. The total number of patients under treatment during the year was 5,579—an increase of 225 over the preceding year. The total number of admissions during the year was 858—1 per cent more than the previous year. Discharges were 401—a decrease of 21, or 5 per cent over last year.

U. S. JURY INDICTS BALTIMORE PAPER

United States courts have jurisdiction. I instituted a quiet investigation, however, to ascertain whether or not the Federal laws had been violated by use of the United States mails or by shipping copies of the publication by common carriers in interstate commerce.

"The investigation disclosed that certain individuals, operating under a number of corporation names, have been engaged in the publication at Baltimore of the Baltimore Brevities, the Washington Brevities, the Philadelphia Brevities, the Chicago Hush and the New York Hush, each specializing in obscene, lewd and filthy material.

"With Baltimore as the publication center, the successive issues of these newspapers have for some months been disseminated in a number of States, by the use of the facilities of the United States mails and of certain interstate carriers.

"The facts were today laid before the grand jury which has found indictments against those deemed responsible."

$100 in Stamps Stolen At Lanham Postoffice

Thieves who entered the Lanham, Md., postoffice early yesterday obtained about $100 worth of stamps and a number of stamped envelopes, it was reported by Mrs. Fred White, postmistress. Entry was gained by forcing a window. The open window was observed by Hilda Wiser, crossing watchman, when she came on duty, and it was she who called Mrs. White.

Two men were arrested for questioning shortly after the robbery, but were freed when they convinced police they had nothing to do with the crime. There was no money in the office, but a larger loss was avoided because Mrs. White had taken the blank money orders to her home.

ALEXANDRIA PLANS 3 SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Third Division Is Expected Soon, With Board of 6 Increased to 9.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

It is regarded as probable that the city of Alexandria will be divided into three school districts, instead of two as at present, thereby providing for nine members of the school board instead of six, as provided for in the present organization. The city school board has instructed its clerk, Gilbert J. Cox, jr., to inform the city council of its desire to make this change, and to ask for suggestions as to the boundaries of the three districts.

In the event that the change is made, the three additional members will be chosen by the present school board, rather than by the city council. The terms of three of the present six members expire December 1—U. S. Lambert, chairman; Gardner L. Boothe and E. E. Lawler, the last named by resignation. These retiring members announce that they will not be candidates for reelection. Their successors will be chosen at the next meeting of the city council, November 22. The division of the city into three districts is understood to be in accordance with the wishes of the city council. Members of the school board whose terms do not expire are Dr. John T. Ashton, Mrs. George T. Klipstein and Mrs. Elmer Smith.

The Alexandria Ministerial Association has gone on record as opposing the proposed $26,000 cut of the appropriation for public schools, as contained in the tentative budget ordinance, and the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, the new president of the association, has been appointed a committee of one to appeal before the council at the public hearing on December 6, to oppose any cut.

A committee consisting of the Rev. William B. McIlwaine, jr., the Rev. Ernest W. Aaron and the Rev. Norris A. Lineweaver, has been appointed to confer with the Associated Charities in order to promote the cooperation and unification of charity work of the city.

The association has elected the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, president; the Rev. Norris A. Lineweaver, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, vice president, and the Rev. Ernest W. Aaron, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, secretary and treasurer. The Rev. William B. McIlwaine, jr., the Rev. P. C. Duborg and the Rev. C. M. Compher were appointed on the program committee.

The Alexandria Kiwanis Club ladies' night celebration, consisting of dinner, musical numbers and dance, was staged at the George Mason Hotel last night, and was one of the most successful entertainments ever given by the club. One of the attractions was the all-Kiwanis minstrel troupe, with J. Randall Caton, jr., as interlocutor. Irving Diener was chairman of the celebration, with Tom Jones, Randall Caton, Elliott F. Hoffman, Roger Sullivan, Bill May and Will Hiatt as his associates.

There were approximately 125 persons attending, including wives and friends of the Kiwanians.

A quantity of clothing and a necklace valued at $200 were stolen Wednesday night from the home of A. C. Tyler, 32 Spring street, Alexandria, according to a report made to the police yesterday.

Mistake in Sob Story Gets Fine for Family

Nobody objected when Clyde Martin, of Gilford, Md., and his three children asked passersby on the Baltimore boulevard near Laurel to give them some food and money for gas for their car so they could "get home to Richmond."

That is, nobody objected until one donor noticed that they weren't going toward Richmond after their "touches," but instead were moving on Baltimore. So the motorist called Sergt. A. W. Markley, of the State Police, and Markley discovered that Martin had no driver's license, no Maryland registration, and improper tags on his car. Martin and the three children, ranging in age from 6 to 9, all went before Magistrate Howard U. Gosnell, at Savage, to be fined $23.

Judge DeLashmutt was born in Frederick, Md., 47 years ago and had resided in Rockville for the past eleven years. He is the son of Elias E. and Susan Ramsburg DeLashmutt. He was graduated with the degree of bachelor of law from Georgetown Law School in 1910.

The new judge is a member of the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States, the District Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals of Maryland. He has practiced law in Washington and New York and recently closed his automobile business to resume the practice of law in Rockville.

His appointment has the unanimous indorsement of the advisory committee of the Government Club, which is composed of the chairmen of each of the thirteen election district organization groups.

State's Attorney Stedman Prescott was under consideration for the appointment but it was discovered that the appointment of his successor as State's attorney would come within the jurisdiction of two Republican judges and he finally decided that he would remain in his present post.

Man Shot in Hunting Accident Loses an Eye

Benjamin Franklin Chaney, of Seat Pleasant, Md., Prince Georges County's first hunting casualty of the season, has lost the sight of one eye as the result of being shot near his home Wednesday afternoon.

After an operation performed at Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital yesterday it was found impossible to save one eye, but doctors are hopeful that the other may be restored. Mr. Chaney, who is 65, was standing in the road at the conclusion of a hunting trip when another hunter, across the road, fired at a rabbit. Small shot lodged in both his eyes. He had been hunting with his son, Stanley, and Guy Skillman, also of Seat Pleasant, prior to the accident.

ARGUMENTS LISTED ON BALL INDICTMENT

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Arguments on demurrers and motions to quash the indictment against former County Treasurer of Arlington County E. Wade Ball will be heard today before Judge Walter T. McCarthy in the Circuit Court.

Ball was indicted on three charges, involving an alleged shortage of $515,959 in county funds, by a grand jury at the October term of the Circuit Court. Early in the summer he was acquitted on a charge of misuse of $24,000 of State funds.

Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas, it is expected, will request Judge McCarthy at today's proceedings to have a jury summoned from another county.

It is pointed out that the request for an outside jury will be made both because of Ball's wide acquaintance in the county, made during the 25 years as county treasurer, and because of the wide publicity given the alleged shortages in his accounts which State auditors claim to be nearly $600,000.

The monthly meeting of the Alexandria-Arlington-Fairfax Real Estate Board will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the offices of the Arlington Title Co. Building, near the Arlington County Courthouse.

The newly elected officers will be installed. They are Charles W. Smith, of Clarendon, president; Nelson T. Snyder, jr., of Alexandria, vice president; John F. Webster, of Clarendon, secretary, and Ashton C. Jones, jr., of Clarendon, treasurer.

At this meeting announcement of all regular and special committee appointments will be made and the final report of the annual convention of the Virginia Real Estate Association, which was recently held in Alexandria, will be made by John C. Graham, general chairman.

The Arlington County Monarch Club at its weekly luncheon meeting held yesterday at Windsor Arms nominated the following officers for the new year:

For president, Dr. Ernest R. Hagan; for first vice president, O. G. Snyder; for second vice president, Maynard Carlisle; for secretary, Walter U. Varney and Howard Sharpe; for treasurer, Joseph C. Anderson. The election will take place the first Thursday in December.

"The Sweetest Girl in Dixie," a seven-act comedy drama, will be presented in the Cherrydale School Auditorium tonight under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association. The play will be given under the direction of J. F. Wakefield, of Washington, who takes part as one of the leading characters.

Handcuffed Man Escapes After Turkey Theft Arrest

Just what the total loss will be depends the eventual outcome. But as the case stood early last night the farmer is out thirteen Thanksgiving turkeys, and Deputy Sheriff Edward Payne, of Culpeper, Va., is searching for his prisoner and his handcuffs.

On a lookout from Culpeper, police Wednesday night arrested Reuben Baker, colored, 30, at the O street market, Fifth and O streets northwest, where he is believed to have sold the stolen turkeys. A total of $20.74 was found in his pockets.

Yesterday afternoon the deputy sheriff called at Second Precinct, manacled his prisoner, and started home with him. At Thirty-fourth and M streets, the deputy sheriff stopped at a filling station, leaving his prisoner in the car with Joe Hudson, a Culpeper citizen, who had accompanied him to Washington. While the officer was in a nearby store, the prisoner jumped from the car and ran. Hudson yelled for some one to stop him, but no one responded.

A financial check of the case showed that the thirteen turkeys which were stolen from a farmer near Culpeper, were worth $30, and the deputy sheriff said his handcuffs were worth $14, which would leave a net loss of $23.26 after subtracting the $20.74 found on the prisoner when arrested.

DEBT CONFERENCES.

The war debt conference between President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt on Tuesday next will be followed by a conference on Wednesday between Mr. Hoover and ranking members of the Senate and House committees concerned with the revenues. Reports that President Hoover has made a decision in the matter of the war debts are obviously inaccurate.

It is not to be expected that the President-elect will do more than make himself acquainted with the debt situation and proposed policy as it may be projected into his administration. The business of balancing the budget is involved. This is a present duty, but it affects the next administration, particularly if the new President should decide not to call an extra session. The request of foreign debtors for a postponement of payments due next month can not be granted without taking up the question of raising $123,000,000 from other sources. The request, in other words, affects the Federal budget program as an immediate question, aside from the broader question of reopening the war debt settlements.

At a time when economy is not only desirable but absolutely necessary if public confidence is to be maintained and the depression vanquished, a request by foreign governments to postpone the debt payments is equivalent to a request that the United States should go further into debt or increase taxes. The Federal deficit will be larger than the national deficit of any of the debtors, and increased taxes must be levied. Public and Congressional opposition to a still greater increase of taxes, in order to relieve foreign debtors, is well-nigh unanimous. None of the debtors makes the request on the ground of inability to pay. All of them are capable of paying. Therefore it seems highly improbable that the President and Congress will look favorably upon the proposed postponement.

Although the debtors have made simultaneous requests for reconsideration of the debts, they will be dealt with separately if reconsideration should be decided upon. The President can discuss this matter with any government that asks for reconsideration of its debt settlement, but only Congress can change the settlements, which are fixed by law. If Congress should be impressed by any representations made by foreign debtors in behalf of a change, the most practicable method of procedure would be through another debt commission charged with the duty of investigation and negotiation, subject to the approval of Congress and the President.

The debtors lay stress upon their willingness to abate the German reparation payments, and upon the fact that cessation of payments from Germany will reduce their capacity to pay their debts to the United States. Whether the United States is willing to reduce or cancel the war debts in return for extinguishment of German reparations, all for the purpose of stimulating world economic recovery and a resumption of world commerce, is a political as well as economic question, which Congress must consider. The present Congress is half Republican and half Democratic, and in the short session a question of this importance can not be settled. It must go over to the Seventy-third Congress. With a Democratic Congress and a Democratic President, having sufficient time in which to canvass the situation, a decision can be reached.

President Hoover may be expected to shape his policy and action with full regard to the responsibility that will fall upon his successor. Gov. Roosevelt, on his part, may be expected to counsel his party colleagues in Congress to co-operate in the execution of any policy during the forthcoming session which seems to the two executives to be in the national interest.

EXPLOITING CHILDREN.

In moving to prevent the scheduled "hunger march" of children on Thanksgiving day District officials will have the united support of citizens here and elsewhere. The exploitation of unemployed men and women by radical agitators is sufficiently despicable. When they attempt to use children for the execution of their plots the law should intervene.

The idea behind marches on Washington to influence Congress is absurd in the extreme. Every reasonable person understands that Congress will not be influenced by mass lobby delegations. Members of Congress know what conditions are throughout the country far better than self-appointed directors of propaganda in Washington. There is only one reason for marches on the Capital, and that is to arouse class animosities and provoke riots.

Washingtonians are just now digging deep down into their pockets for funds to save unfortunate children from want and neglect. A parade of children camouflaged as destitute waifs, under the management of Communist agitators, would be an insult to the community. Maj. Brown will be justified in using every means at his command to frustrate this demonstration.

AN ANCIENT INHABITANT.

America's most notable contribution to the study of ancient man has been unearthed in Ottertail County, Minn. It is the skeleton of a young woman who is believed to have lived about 20,000 years ago. No other human skeleton dating from such a remote age has been discovered in the United States. Anthropologists are delighted with the find. It will undoubtedly stimulate further research.

According to Dr. A. E. Jenks, of the University of Minnesota, this young woman lived while ice still covered a large part of the United States. He believes that she was murdered by an arrow or a spear which left a nick in the inner side of her shoulder blade. She probably fell into an ancient lake and was buried in the sand along with her antler dagger, her ornaments and her apron made of shells. Fragments of her shell ornaments and the weapon were found with the skeleton.

The woman was a primitive savage, with large teeth, rounded nostrils, a flat nose and a skull not dissimilar from that of the ape. Dr. Jenks sees in the skeleton evidence suggesting that she was of Mongolian origin, which strengthens the supposition that the American aborigines migrated from Asia. His discovery may change the estimates as to when that migration took place.

While this skeleton does not compare in antiquity with the Java man or the Peking man, it is a very significant discovery. Science is gradually unfolding the story of prehistoric man. How far science will be able to go in connecting modern man with the evolution of life upon the earth remains to be seen. Each year the story of life in remote eras becomes a little clearer. Link by link a chain of evidence tracing the origin of man back to brute-like creatures is being established. Knowledge on the subject is still fragmentary and inconclusive. But research is gradually extending the horizon of the past, and it is not impossible that some day the origin of man may be definitely ascertained.

INDECENT LITERATURE.

Members of the Catholic hierarchy, meeting at the Catholic University in Washington, have adopted a most timely resolution condemning the circulation of indecent literature. The subtle destruction of moral fibre in the young by the publication of immoral literature seems to have become a flourishing business which deserves public protest and rigorous official action. The hierarchy may be speaking too emphatically, perhaps, when it declares that "public opinion" has influenced the courts to such an extent as to make it almost impossible to bar obscene books from the customs and the mails, but unquestionably public opinion has not exerted itself adequately to check the evil. Indifference, rather than active sympathy with the evil, seems to be the attitude of the public.

The vigilance of United States Attorney Rover, of this District, is worthy of imitation elsewhere. He has prosecuted vendors of indecent publications and has given notice that others will feel the heavy hand of the law if they persist in the practice of circulating indecent publications. The tariff act enables the Treasury to exclude immoral works, and thousands of such works are excluded. Transmission of obscene literature through the mails is a transaction sometimes difficult to prevent, but the postal authorities have power to prosecute, and assistance from the public would aid them in detecting violations of the law. A more active public sense of the damage done by indecent literature, and a resolute determination by every citizen to do his share in stamping out the evil business, would go far to make present laws effective.

PUBLIC DOMAIN FORGOTTEN.

Two committees composed of 35 experts on public land problems have revived an issue that had been almost completely forgotten during the stress of hard times. Their conference in Washington should serve as a reminder to Congress that nothing has been done to protect the vast public domain which is going to ruin for want of care and supervision.

Last year a commission appointed by President Hoover recommended that the remaining surface rights to the public domain be transferred to the States. But inasmuch as the Government wishes to retain the national forests and the mineral rights to the public domain, the States are not interested in the proposal. They will not accept the responsibility of restoring the ranges and watersheds of the public domain that have deteriorated under Federal control unless the Government is also willing to give them the valuable mineral rights to this land. Consequently, the whole problem seems to have been dropped. At least nothing has been done about it.

The National Land Use Planning Committee and the National Advisory and Legislative Committee on Land Use advise immediate Federal regulation of grazing on the unreserved public domain to check overgrazing, erosion and serious damage to watersheds and irrigation districts. Large areas have been depleted until they are unfit for grazing or any other use. If this destruction of ranges is allowed to continue, it will have a serious effect upon the live stock industry. About 50 per cent of the sheep and 16 per cent of the cattle in the United States are raised in States whose area is largely public domain.

A bill by Representative Colton, providing for the protection and supervision of these lands, calls this matter to the attention of Congress. The preservation of 176,000,000 acres of land belonging to the people is at stake. Surely this is no subject for indifference on the part of Congress.

RETAIL PRICES.

Washington is a fairly average city among the larger centers of population in the United States in the matter of commodity prices. The Bureau of Labor has just issued a statement showing changes in retail charges in 51 cities throughout the country in comparison with the 100 base rate given for prices in 1913, as well as comparisons of monthly and yearly changes.

Figures for October 15 show that the index last month was 100.4, or only fourtenths of a point above that of 1913. This is a decrease in retail prices from October, 1931, of 15¾ per cent. For the first time in months, however, the October figure is an increase of one-tenth of 1 per cent over the previous month. The slightly overbalancing rise was confined to a comparatively few staples, such as eggs, beef, milk, vegetable lard, coffee and oranges, while a large list continued to show some decline in price.

There was great variation among cities as to the yearly decline in average retail prices. Cincinnati and Detroit are both above 22 per cent, while Denver and Norfolk show only 13 per cent, with San Francisco at the bottom with 11 per cent. Washington is bracketed with Baltimore, Cleveland, Memphis and Pittsburgh with lower retail prices from the 1931 level of 16 per cent. Since food purchases constitute a large proportion of the average family budget these lower retail prices have in some measure served to offset reduced incomes.

BIGGER AMERICANS

From the Boston Transcript.

It would be very interesting if we could know what was the average height of the class of 1642 at Harvard College, because in that case we might, in the year 1982, be able to compare the height of the 6-footers of the class of that year with the primordial Harvardites. For the records of fathers and sons at Harvard, as assembled in recent years in "New Types of Old Americans at Harvard," published at the university, show that if present tendencies continue, the men of the class of 1982, under 50 years' more of the sort of development now proceeding, will average more than 6 feet in height and over 160 pounds in weight. It is a matter of record, that is to say, that the American man, insofar as he is represented by the Harvard undergraduate, is growing taller and bigger.

This process, very plainly, is the result not only of improved nutrition and better nurture and care, but of athletic sports. Bones and muscles are built not merely by food but by judicious exercise. And whether or not our baseball fields and running tracks, like the cricket fields of Eton and Harrow, are supposed to breed victories on the field of battle, they undoubtedly do develop big and strong youths. Our young men grow with the chance to grow and become strong. Was it always so? Is the average young American taller and heavier than his Puritan forebears? Perhaps not. They were a vigorous, raw-boned race. With them, size may have been developed at the plow or with the ax. But a time came when the average college student was a pindling production. The pale cast of thought sicklied his stature as well as his complexion. From that condition the baseball ground and the athletic field have redeemed him. Indeed, they have put him at the head of the physical development of the American race.

So, at least, we may hope, yet only hope as yet, because we have no means of knowing whether or not the advent of the 6-foot Harvard man reveals a universal condition. It may represent merely the development of a favored section or element, enjoying special advantages. Yet there is reason to believe that better nutrition, better sanitation and the universality of athletic sports for the young, are telling favorably on the whole race. The average male American of 50 years hence may be a 6-footer. Whatever our intellectual stature may be, the American physical type seems destined to be tall. We do not know how the sons of Anak got to be giants, but they were a whole race of big fellows, and it must have taken an existence of out-of-door life and vigorous exercise to develop them. Yet in referring to the sons of Anak we are faced with a question which may affect our Harvard 6-footers. The sons of Anak were reputed to be dull in intellect, and, though their stature inspired fright, they were easily displaced at Hebron by the cleverer sons of Israel. It would be interesting, indeed, if the study of the "New Types of Americans at Harvard" could give us an accurate view of the intellectual stature of the class of 1982.

POST HASTE

Remarkable news from Paris: Three European nations propose to raise a rehabilitation fund without resort to Uncle Sam's bootstraps.

If Al Capone gets out on a mere technicality it will also exceed the statute of limitations on American patience.

They are not classed as backward nations, but how can the European states that borrowed over three billions after the armistice call that a war debt?

The three-cent stamp may take a licking from Congress because it didn't get the anticipated public licking.

Breweries and wineries hopefully prepare for modification and repeal, but meanwhile increasing nullification profits the bootlegger.

It is easy to make a miss-take about some of these flying girls who are out to break records and marital ties.

Reports from Albany indicate that Gov. Roosevelt got up to get down to work sizing up the low down on war debts.

One must admire the restraint of John D., becoming thoroughly acclimated in Florida before he risks making a golf score that would match his years.

American farmers seem slow to learn who gets the bump from bumper crops.

Of course, if you wine bibbers are permitted five times the disputed content of beer you must agree to consume only 20 per cent as much.

If the American income has been cut in half, but with living expenses down 30 per cent and expenditure off another 20 per cent, we would seem to be about square, counting par value of stock now at 50.

The fate of the United States does not hang upon the payment of $125,000,000 on the war debts next month, and it is hard to believe it is as vital to the rest of the world as some would make out.

Six candidates for leader of the House have already said more than the retiring Speaker did during the whole campaign.

WHEN THE MILL BURNS.

Ranging the past, the Providence Journal finds in the records of the Sprague, whose history is that of Rhode Island for many years, food for entertainment and instruction. William II inherited the mill on the Pocasset, and ran it with profit until, in 1813, it burned to the ground. His friends came to the front; the Knights, Governor Nehemiah and Robert, were among those quick in offers of help. He declined the proffered aid, saying:

"If a man falls down and is helped up by others, he can not walk alone afterward."

It is a saying to be borne in mind today; self-help has lost none of its virtue with the passage of years.

THE HONEYMOON WAR.

France and Italy are engaged in a trade war for the honeymoon business of the continent, and each country has made special travel rates for newly married couples, says the Spokane Spokesman-Review. If the competition gets keen enough, this country may be forced to redecorate Niagara Falls.

How Can It Be a Common Tree If No Other Bears Such Fruit?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

VALUES are understood only by means of comparison.

When you see a photograph of a giant tree, its size does not impress you unless the figure of a man or some other familiar object appears in the foreground to provide contrast.

You take the measure of modern men by comparing them with great men of old, and the famous men of other times seem real and human only as you find in them the qualities that distinguish men of today.

Have you ever tried, by means of comparison, to measure Jesus of Nazareth?

Try to imagine a young farmer, poor and unschooled, coming out of some remote region in the hills and proclaiming himself a Son of God.

Imagine him feeling capable of bearing all of the sins and sorrows of the world.

Imagine him as saying: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Imagine him—this back-country peasant in the garb of a working man—offering peace of mind and heart to all who believe in him.

You can imagine a fraud doing these things. But can you imagine such a man today, so sure of himself, so wise and gentle and good, so obviously sane and sincere that his words will be believed and treasured for nineteen hundred years?

Can you imagine this humble one not only feeling capable of bearing the sorrows of all mankind but also by some strange alchemy of the spirit actually doing it, so that generations of sad and oppressed and broken-hearted people lay their burdens on him and feel their weight no more?

You can't do it. Your common sense tells you that no mortal man, such as you are, could do such things. Imagination refuses to picture the impossible.

Yet Jesus of Nazareth did these things. His words still live and none of their healing power is lost.

Was He more than other men? Read His words again and try to imagine a man of our day speaking them for the first time.

Men of our clay do not speak with such authority, no do their words give peace to spirits that are troubled and afraid.

WHAT IS TO COME?

Press Surmises as to Probable Developments in Politics as a Result of the Election.

Business After Elections.
Cincinnati Enquirer.

Business was delayed by the uncertainty preceding the presidential election. With that obstacle out of the way there has been a slight improvement, not only in the security markets, but in other respects. However, the upturn is slight. Uncertainty has succeeded uncertainty as business leaders wonder what new policies are to follow Gov. Roosevelt's inauguration and how those policies will affect them.

It is true that major policies will not take effect for some months and that the present administration is likely to move with caution during the interim period. But President Hoover has assured the country he will conduct a nonpartisan administration until March 4, pressing forward with the reconstruction program. And Gov. Roosevelt has indicated he intends to continue the sound measures already in operation to aid the recovery of business.

A Woman Cabinet Member.
St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Considering his fondness for breaking precedents, it would not be at all surprising if Gov. Roosevelt were the first President to appoint a woman to a Cabinet position. As a matter of fact, it is known that he is considering the appointment of Miss Frances Perkins, member of the New York State Industrial Commission, as Secretary of Labor.

Feudists Shake and Shoot.
Kansas City Times.

There is to be the usual "truce in politics" during the short session. Such "truces" are fairly familiar. Politicians meet each other, shake hands, talk diplomatically and politely and then suddenly draw pistols and begin shooting. After the wounded have been carried to the hospital each side gives out statements blaming the other, and everything is normal.

Jackass Wrench.
Cincinnati Enquirer.

A left-handed monkey wrench has been invented. This will enable the left-handed sons of wild jackasses to do their bit in wrecking the machinery during the next session of Congress.

Japan Looks to Roosevelt.
Minneapolis Journal.

Out of the American election the Japanese hope to get several things. They see the election of Gov. Roosevelt as meaning the end of the Stimson policy regarding Manchuria. They have had no word as to Roosevelt's views, but they do know that Secretary Stimson declared the United States would not recognize any agreements, situations or changes brought about by means contrary to the Nine Power Treaty and the Pact of Paris, the inference being that this meant Manchukuo. They believe Roosevelt will be more favorably disposed toward Japan than either Hoover or Stimson, although they also regard Hoover as a better friend than Stimson.

But they likewise hope Newton D. Baker will not have a hand in shaping American policy toward Japan. They recall that Baker was one of the leaders of the group that urged economic boycott of Japan, in reprisal for her course on the continent of Asia. Better a diplomatic frown than a goods boycott. And these Japanese even venture the hope that tariff revision will let more Japanese goods into the United States.

District Bird Sanctuary.
Minneapolis Journal.

The District of Columbia has recently been converted into a bird preserve. When Congress meets in December, however, there will be a lot of birds there suffering from game leg.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lawyer Suggests That Eighteenth Amendment Forbids Legalization of Beer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: There seems to be a very general assumption that the sale of beer may be immediately legalized merely by amendment of the Volstead act. Such a conclusion must, of course, rest upon the theory that beer is not an intoxicating beverage within the meaning of the eighteenth amendment.

The first and controlling rule to be observed in constructing law, including the Constitution, is that the intent of the law-maker shall be carried into effect. There can be no reasonable doubt that when the eighteenth amendment was proposed by Congress and ratified by the States the intent was to extend the prohibition to traffic in ordinary beer. Those interested in this question should read the decisions of the United States Supreme Court in Hamilton v. Kentucky Distilling, &c., Co., 251 U. S. 140; United States v. Standard Brewery, 251 U. S. 210, and Ruppert v. Caffey, 251 U. S. 264, particularly the notes accompanying the last-mentioned decision, in which Mr. Justice Brandeis sets out the provisions of the constitutions and statutes of numerous States bearing upon the subject of liquor control. See also language of the so-called war-time prohibition act of November 21, 1918, referring to "beer wine, or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquor." These references are by no means exhaustive.

There is also much current discussion as to the attitude of the President, should the legalization of beer be attempted by the present Congress. In the ordinary and proper course of business, the President would refer any proposed legislation on this subject to his Attorney General for opinion as to its constitutionality. Assuming that official to be competent and honest, there can be no doubt as to what his opinion would be; nor can there be any doubt regarding the duty of any President either present or future, who receives such an opinion.

OLD-FASHIONED LAWYER.

Dry Reader Sees a Long Way to Tipperary, but Promises to Be a Good Loser.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Some seem to forget that there is a United States Supreme Court that has as one of its habits the practice of setting aside legislation that is unconstitutional. Does any one believe that the drys will allow such legislation to go into effect without immediately appealing to the Supreme Court? Any attempt, therefore, to legalize liquor in spite of the eighteenth amendment is, of course, just so much folly.

Let them get their two-thirds majority in the House and their two-thirds majority in the Senate; then get it ratified by 36 States before they talk of slaking their thirst with legalized booze. Do it in a constitutional way and you will find the drys good losers, sportsmanlike in every respect.

Even then, it would merely close one more chapter in the fight on legalized liquor. The battle will go on as long as there is an America and a decent American citizen.

PAUL N. CASSERLY.

"Ghost Writing" Not a Modern Invention—Everybody Did It in Old Times.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A national magazine article of last month, entitled "The Ventriloquists of Washington," and intended to be very revealing, mentioned by name several prominent persons whom it charged with the practice of employing "ghost writers" in the preparation of their speeches or articles.

Writing by proxy is no modern idea. The term "ghost writer" may be new, the practice is an old and not a modern weakness.

For assurance on this point we may turn with a smile to the following quip written by the English poet, Thomas Moore over 100 years ago:

Among our neighbors, the French, in the good olden time
When nobility flourished, great barons and dukes
Often set up for authors in prose and in rhyme
But took not the trouble to write their own books.

Poor devils were found to do this for their betters,
And one day a Bishop, addressing a Blue,
Said: "Ma'am, have you read my new pastoral letters?"
To which the Blue answered, "No, Bishop. Have you?"

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE ORDINARY FOLKS.

Just an ordinary man, eight and forty to the day,
With a pair of stout-legged children starting upward on life's way,
And the mother of them mending little garments when they fray.

Where a grocer and a druggist and a foundry foreman meet,
And the women folks are busy cooking meals for men to eat.

A clump of shasta daisies and nasturtiums climbing strings,
A patch of grass to sprawl on, and a happy bird that sings!

To the ordinary people we encounter every day?

Hoover Asked to Keep Wales in U. S. Service

Despite the operation of the economy act, providing compulsory retirement for age of veteran employes, President Hoover has been asked to extend the service of Commissioner George R. Wales, of the Civil Service Commission, who otherwise must retire at the end of this month.

President Hoover is empowered to waive retirement of any employe, where it can be done in the public interest. Commissioner Wales will be 70 next Tuesday and, lacking action by the President, must retire November 30. He has passed a lifetime in the Government service. He was appointed a Republican member of the commission by President Wilson in 1919.

Village Where Lincoln Clerked Being Revived

Old Salem, Ill., Nov. 17 (A.P.)—The frontier village of New Salem, where Abraham Lincoln became a clerk in Offut's store 101 years ago, was reborn today.

Dedicating the corner stone of the first of 25 log buildings, Illinois officials started the restoration of the deserted town, renamed Old Salem, which started the emancipator on his political career. It was exactly 101 years ago today that "Abe" Lincoln first rested his long legs at the Rutledge Tavern.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

"HOLLYWOOD" McCOSKER, of Station WOR, Newark, just elected president of the National Association of Broadcasters, would be an ornament to any industry. The broadcasters are to be congratulated upon their choice. A typical debonair Broadway figure, he looks as if he had just stepped from a motion picture screen, which may account for the "Hollywood."

McCosker always seems to be seeking a chance to go out of his way to accommodate some one. And he radiates energy.

Through McCosker's foresight and ability, WOR occupies front rank among the New York City stations. Although WOR'S transmitter is located in New Jersey, the studios are on Broadway. The situations of WOR, divided between New York and New Jersey, and Station WJSV, divided between Washington and Virginia, are much the same.

WOR is one of the leading independent stations in the United States and stands so high with the Federal Radio Commission that it was recently granted an increase in power to 50,000 watts, the maximum allowance.

THE lecture of Dr. Fulton J. Sheen, who is frequently heard on the national Catholic Hour broadcasts, will be held in Gaston Hall, Georgetown University, at 8:30 o'clock tonight, instead of last night as stated in this column yesterday.

Dr. Sheen will have a new subject, "Pageantry of the Skies," and the address will be for the benefit of St. Gertrude's School in Brookland.

It will not be broadcast.

Josef Hofmann, world-famous concert pianist, will be the soloist featured with the Philadelphia Orchestra, under the direction of Leopold Stokowski, during the broadcast this afternoon (WJSV, 2:30-4:00 o'clock). The program follows:

Eight Russian folk songs (Liadow)—Religious Chant, Christmas Carol, Plaintive Melody, Jesting Song, Legend of the Birds, Cradle Song, Round Dance and Village Dance Song.

Scheherazade (Rimsky-Korsakoff).

Will Osborne, youthful radio star, who is playing at Loew's Fox, will be 27 years old November 25. He has three more broadcast programs to play before he will be able to celebrate his 3,000th performance on the air since his first one over WMCA in 1925.

As he plays for the annual University of Pennsylvania junior prom on his birthday, it may be arranged for him to broadcast his 3,000th program from the dance.

The future of New England railroads and the great St. Lawrence-waterway to the sea, two vital problems in the economic rehabilitation of the entire northeastern section of the United States, will engage the attention of more than 500 leaders of business, industry and commerce, meeting at the second session of the eighth annual conference of the New England Council, to be broadcast (WRC, 1:45 o'clock) this afternoon.

The annual banquet of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, at which awards are made for achievement in various branches of the industry, will be broadcast over WRC at 12:30 a. m. from the Fiesta Room of the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles.

Conrad Nagel will act as master of ceremonies at the gathering, and Lionel Barrymore will present the awards, which are given in the following classifications: Technical and scientific art director, cameraman, sound engineer, writer, director, actor and actress.

Beer and the war debts, the two issues now uppermost in the public mind, will be the subject of news dramatizations to be heard on the "March of Time" over WJSV at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

COACH LOU LITTLE, of the Columbia University football team, will be interviewed by Christy Walsh during the All-America Football Show, to be broadcast over WJSV at 9 o'clock tonight.

More than 800 children have been invited to attend the Thanksgiving party which Aunt Sue and Polly, heard over WRC every day, are giving at the National Press Club Auditorium tomorrow morning.

"The House With Nobody In It," a poem by Joyce Kilmer, author of "Trees," offered in a musical setting for the first time, will be the feature of the Cities Service concert tonight (WRC, 8 o'clock). Jessica Dragonette will be heard in several selections, including the Habanera from "Carmen" and "Sweethearts."

A radio dramatization of "The Conquerors," adapted from Howard Estabrook's story, will be heard over the WJZ network at 10:15 o'clock tonight. The RKO picture will open on Broadway tonight. It stars Richard Dix and Ann Harding.

AL JOLSON will go on the air for his first network series when the Chevrolet program has its premiere tonight (WRC, 10 o'clock). Jolson will be supported by an orchestra under the direction of Louis Silvers.

Morton Downey has been resigned by the Columbia Broadcasting System under its exclusive management for another long period of time.

A TIPSTER for a Broadway columnist met with sudden death. Eddie Cantor described the tragedy as "the killing of the goof that relayed the golden gag."

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

A CONVALESCENT HOME.

THE writer has recently visited two institutions that should be duplicated many times over. One was a hospital to care for cases of contagion that develop among the children on dairy farms. To this hospital the mother takes the sick child and gives it all the services needed except those of a physician.

The care of sick children in such a hospital is much better than that given at home. There are few fatalities, not many complications, the spread of disease is stopped, the farm products go to market every day as usual, and the expense of the illness is trivial.

The second institution was one in which persons with chronic organic disease can be cared for during several weeks or months in which adjustments are being made. Most of the service this hospital renders is to those with organic heart disease.

A person with organic heart disease is subject to periodic breaks in compensation. The proper treatment is prescribed rest. The prescription should cover details. Such rest cannot be carried out in the average home. Convalescent homes for heart cases suffering from temporary breaks in compensation are very much needed. They can be justified from the economic standpoint as well as from the medical, domestic and emotional.

If a person can be kept quiet for several weeks or months, at small expense and, by so doing, be put in condition to go back to work, or to take up the duties of a housewife, the cost is justified. When such institutions are available persons with organic heart conditions can nurse themselves along, going to the hospital for a few months at intervals, and get from five to ten more productive years out of life than would be possible otherwise.

This is a how-to-live-with service, and there are many hundreds of thousands who have chronic disorders from which they will not fully recover, but which have not much tendency to terminate life. Many of these thousands could live in reasonable comfort, taking care of their jobs and supporting their families, if they could somehow and somewhere learn how to live with their maladies. Institutions of this type help them in this and, at the same time, offer assistance during the periodic breakdowns which almost inevitably occur.

The great field for such an institution is in caring for persons with organic heart disease. But there are other fields for its services. There are many who have nervous hearts, rapid, intermittent and irritable pulses, who could be stabilized by just such a service. Some goiter cases require operation, and others require little or nothing out of the ordinary, but there are many thousands in between and a large part of these would be benefited by periods of bed care in such an institution.

Another large group to whom such service would be a godsend are those with minor mental and emotional disorders, in which there are periodic flare-ups. Many with Bright's disease and dropsy could be patched up and put back on a working basis. Both diabetes and pernicious anemia are conditions in which a periodic check-up is advisable.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A very graceful evening gown in white morocain, trimmed unusually in cerise colored velvet. And the top of a black georgette gown of a beautifully tailored simplicity. (Courtesy of Helen Hubert, Paris.)

WELL, it's all a matter of taste, my dear! Despite the fact that a very famous Parisian couturier and style dictator predicted more than a year ago that "the ensemble, featuring the same color and material in coat and dress with accessories to match—is finished," and "that the smart woman was creating a different effect by wearing coats and dresses that harmonized rather than matched," I still maintain that there are certain colors which are best all alone.

I ask you first, then, to tell me if you have ever seen gray combined with any other color without losing its chic? There is nothing lovelier, unless it be white, than an all gray outfit, with all the shades in it perfectly matched. But add one single color and where is its mystery and chic?

Now take dark red, which I am affecting this winter; what accessories and what color of coat do you believe is as elegant with dark red as—dark red? Ye gods, the trouble I had having those stockings dyed, matching the red of shoes and bag—having red gloves made to order, and finally, having a slightly worn gray fox dyed red! Oh, as to that, it was extravagant—but do you think it doesn't look it? It does, it does!

Dark green is dark green, and navy blue. Can you imagine their elegance when Miladi is completely dark green or dark blue from head to foot, including all accessories?

Other colors can be assembled, harmonized, whatevered. But to just arbitrarily say that matching colors and fabrics are no longer smart in one ensemble is exaggerating, to say the least.

Dah-ray's Animullery.

First we make a Goofy Dawg—of any one color oilcloth you wish. Make four long sausage like rolls for his legs, a short one, same shape, for his tail, and a larger one for his body. Sew with large, loose stitches on the machine, turn wrong side out so that the seam is finished in appearance, stuff with cotton and close at each end—every one of the sausage-shaped things!

Now sew his tail and legs to his body loosely, with contrasting color worstered. And then cut out four 3-inch squares of cardboard, two which are 2 by 4 inches, one about 5 by 4. Voila! Cover these with squares of the oilcloth just the size of the cardboards, front and back, and feather stitch them all around the edge, either right through the cardboard, or make them half an inch bigger than the cardboard in the first place and feather stitch the oilcloth squares together with the cardboard square inside.

And sew his "feet" to his sausage legs, his "head" to the opposite end of the body from the tail, his "ears" to each corner of this head—and lastly embroider a comical pup's face with a comical expression on it right to the large square, which is his head. Attach these feet, ears and head loosely, right in their center, so they will flop. Watch for another annimule!

And I sketched a lovely white evening dress for you today, with an odd cerise velvet top to it that follows the lines of the incrustations of the frock. The belt effect comes from another incrustation of this cerise velvet. Helen Hubert designed this, as well as the very simple but elegant frock of black georgette, of which I sketch only the top.

• • • •

A simple, chic, practical and comfortable nightgown which takes exactly two and three quarter yards of material and is long and ample in width. That is what this week's illustrated leaflet tells you how to make, so do send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for it. It is a perfect gift for some one who likes a semitailored design in underwear, too.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

WE have heard a good deal about bathing for beauty. But today we bathe the bathroom and exercise to beauty thereby. Of course, every person in the family washes the bathtub after using it. Even the children are taught at an early age to do this. But the housewife who gets a keen delight out of seeing everything spic and span usually gives the bathtub a daily scrubbing just for good measure. It's excellent exercise for shoulders, back, abdomen and hips if done correctly. It is better to kneel than to lean over.

Here, if you but knew it, you have the squatting exercise which keeps abdomen and hips trim. First rise on toes, breathing in slowly, then breathe out while you slowly squat. It takes practice to get this down right without losing balance, but it is well worth working for.

Now place left hand flat at bottom of tub and swing right arm around, back and forth, up and down while scrubbing. Stretch as you reach. Don't push, because pushing tends to flatten chest. Pull back hard—that's good for the chest and back muscles.

Now try to rise to your feet without using your arms for support. Hard, isn't it? But grand to strengthen muscles of feet and legs. If you must hold on to the tub edge at first for balance, hold on very tightly. Try gradually to get up without holding on to anything.

Today we'll scrub the floor on hands and knees. Down on knees and hands. Use a circular motion, scrubbing small space at a time. Be sure abdomen is in, always. Spine straight as possible. That position is the least strain to lower back. As you work round and round you should feel a delightful rhythmic pull and stretch to arm, shoulder, back and side muscles. Remember not to push forward hard, but lightly; the backward pull should be vigorous. That's the part of the exercise that is so helpful.

What Today Means to You

"SCORPIO."

IF November 18 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 6:30 p. m. to 7:15 p. m. The danger hours are from 11:30 a. m. to 12:45 p. m and from 7:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Influences at work on this November 18 will tend to create an atmosphere of anxiety and doubt both in the office and at home. People will seem to be on "edge" and much unnecessary and often harmful criticism will be apparent. A more thorough attempt to understand the other person will make of this a happier and pleasanter day.

Children born on this November 18 will bring happiness and joy not only to their parents, but to all those with whom they come into contact. Their genial and happy dispositions, keen sense of humor and general ability to get along with the other fellow will make them well liked by all. Often they are fond of playing practical jokes, but at all times they show tact and consideration in dealing with others.

If November 18 is your birthday you are in all probability a very "easy-going" person. You seldom seem to worry, and even when you do you appear to have perfect confidence that everything will turn out all right in the end anyway. As a business man, as a gatherer of the material things of life, you will never make an outstanding success. Your greatest joy, happiness and comfort will come from being able to care more than moderately well for your family. You will make a place for yourself in the community in which you live, and most probably you will sit on the town board or city council. You are inclined to be the kind of person who seems to be bursting with civic pride.

You will have many genuine friends who will be glad to fight "to the last ditch" for you. You have a rare sense of values. You enjoy lending a helping hand. You are fond of children and are possessed of that unusual ability to see things as they do. They accept you as an equal, not as a superior. If you are a woman, yours is the home where all the neighbors' children like to gather to enjoy themselves.

THE world of cards presents in miniature many of the problems which face us in everyday life. New situations are constantly arising, and as new methods of defense are developed, those with the greater forces are compelled to invent some course of action that will adequately cope with unusual situations. Bids at the Contract table can be classed largely as good or bad, depending upon the mental level of your partner and your opponents. You may make what would be a brilliant bid with one partner that would be the height of absurdity with a partner of another temperament.

Recently I played a match with my new partner, Mr. Oswald Jacoby, against two members of the Bridge World team, of which Mrs. Culbertson is captain. My opponents were Mr. Louis H. Watson and Mr. Samuel Fry, Jr. One of the hands in that match was interesting because of the unusual bidding which occurred. The hand was:

South—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

Mr. Ely Culbertson
♠ A Q 7 5
♡ K Q 4 3 2
♣ A Q J 3

Mr. Samuel Fry, Jr. (West): ♠ K J 3, ♡ A 10, ◇ A K 10 9 5 4, ♣ 10 8
Mr. Louis H. Watson (East): ♠ 10 6 2, ♡ 7 5, ◇ Q 7 6 2, ♣ K 7 5 4
Mr. Oswald Jacoby (North): ♠ 9 8 4, ♡ J 9 8 6, ◇ J 8 3, ♣ 9 6 2

The Bidding:
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	1◇	2◇(1)	Pass
2♡(2)	Pass	3◇(3)	Pass
3♡(4)	Pass	4♡(5)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—A Forcing bid, after which neither I nor Mr. Jacoby may pass until game is reached.
2—Mr. Jacoby responds with his only four-card suit.
3—Naturally I would not make this bid unless I had sufficient support for the heart bid to make game a near certainty. The Re-bid of the opponents' suit in this case is designed to show a void. After the hand was over, I remarked to Mr. Jacoby: "This is a bid I would not have made with more than two other Contract players in the world."
4—Again a forced response. Mr. Jacoby, of course, with his trickless bust, can give nothing but minimum responses. However, these bids show how a master player visualizes the possibility of game through a plastic combination of the 26 cards, and not a mere study of his own holdings.
5—In view of the Opening bid, which locates much of the adverse strength, my bid of four hearts is fully justified. It would be useless to show the spades, as, if my partner had held five hearts and four spades, he would have disclosed that fact on the second round of the bidding.

In the play, four were made, the losers being one heart, one spade and one club.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

Modernize with Gas FOR A CONVENIENT WINTER

SO QUIET

you can "hear the temperature drop"

"Sound effects" are fine in the movies, but you want restful silence in your home: Remember that when you buy a refrigerator. Remember that the gas-operated refrigerator is the silent one—silent because it just simply hasn't any complicated machinery to make noise.

COSTS LESS, TOO

The gas refrigerator has other advantages you can get nowhere else. It costs less to operate; it supplies constant, steady cold, and it is built to endure.

36 MONTHS TO PAY

We'll allow a liberal amount for your old icebox, and you then have 36 months in which to pay the balance at a few pennies a day. Actually the savings you'll get from the automatic gas refrigerator will pay for it—the comfort and convenience are extras that you get for nothing.

Call either of the 'phone numbers below or come in today. When you know all the facts you'll find that there isn't a reason on earth why you shouldn't join the thousands who are enjoying this modern method of refrigeration.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

WHEN "Air Mail" is presented for the first time locally at a Wednesday midnight public preview, ushering in Thanksgiving Day, at the Rialto Theater, Washington picture lovers will be privileged to view the most comprehensive survey of practical mail and passenger flying that has so far been brought to the screen.

There has been, as everyone knows, an almost endless procession of features dealing with the aerial heroics of the wartime fliers of btoh the Army and Navy, explorers and adventurers of uncounted types, but this is the first time, to the best of my knowledge, that commercial aeronautics have been utilized as the basis of fictional drama that is by turns amusing, romantic and genuinely thrilling.

"Air Mail" is not a fair-weather picture, but rather specializes in the hazards of night flying in every kind of storm known to the experts of the Weather Bureau and the scenario department. By this token, also, it reveals the workaday operation of a busy airport and discloses in some detail the duties of the various attaches, as fascinated by the mysteries of the air as any old salt by the ominous vagaries of Ol' Davil Sea.

The arrival of the "Air Mail" is almost a week away, but it will do no harm, even this far in advance, to suggest that you will find it novel and exciting in many of its most important aspects and well acted by a competent cast of young people who manage to get a good deal of tang into their work—especially Ralph Bellamy, Pat O'Brien and Lillian Bond.

One becomes apprised in the course of a telephone conversation with his father that Dick Leibert, one of the first of Washington's featured pipe organists, now presiding at the console of the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Paramount Theater, has been personally selected by our old friend, Sam Rothapfel, now known as Mr. Samuel Lionel Rothafel—Roxy to you, fresh guy—as solo organist for the new Radio City development rapidly nearing completion in New York City.

Dick will be solo organist at the first of the completed units of Rockefeller Center, to be dedicated, I believe, late in December. This, I seem to recall, was to have been known as the International Music Hall, although it comes to mind hazily that the internationalism of the name has since undergone some modification.

Roxy evidently possesses a bit of a penchant for Washington organists. At his Roxy Theater, it will be recalled, he installed Lew White as first organist, Lew having served a brief novitiate some years before at Crandall's Metropolitan Theater in this city.

Dick Leibert's proficiency at the multiple-manual keyboard, of course, is still fresh in the public mind from a comparatively recent season as guest organist at the Palace Theater here, where, in the early days, he was one of the most popular of the theater's permanent attractions. Dick has never sacrificed musicianship to mere spectacular claptrap, although his work always has possessed the charm of novelty and a versatile command of his complex instrument.

Dick, of course, is to be congratulated upon his new assignment, but no more so than Mr. Rothafel for having exercised the sound judgment of appointing him to the new and distinguished post from among a group of eight of the country's foremost theater organists, who aspired to the position.

Speaking of the new vaudeville shrine so soon to be dedicated in Rockefeller Center, reminds me that with the unit stage shows apparently definitely a thing of the past in Washington and vaudeville seemingly having firmly moulded itself into a stereotyped form, announcement may be expected most any minute now of a considerable revision of the method of presenting vaudeville acts in the downtown, first-run area.

A note that should prove of interest to the public in general and to at least some of the principals in "Show Boat," at the National, in particular, comes to hand from a citizen of the world who has trudged the far corners of the earth for the National Geographic Society and once took the trouble to let this column know about it when in some miraculous manner it found its way to him in the heart of the Gobi Desert. He pauses, perhaps briefly, at 3214 Newark street northwest, and writes under date of November 15 as follows, the salutation being a case of adoption many years back:

"Dear Fellow from Kalamazoo: One song, last night, swept the Mississippi aside and conjured up the Pamirs in its place.

"Between the Mediterranean and the Yellow Sea, the Citroen-Haardt Expedition carried a gramophone record of 'Can't Help Lovin' That Man,' and I had to explain 'forty-dollar hack' in French. (I wonder what it really is?)

"After crossing a 13,000-foot pass in a thick snowstorm, we came to a Kirghiz camp—peaceful as Paradise. So hospitable were those unspoiled nomads of the high Pamirs that we sought ways to show our appreciation. Helen Morgan turned the trick.

"'With the felt yurt crowded more than fire regulations would allow, French explorer, American correspondent, Sarikoli guide and Kirghiz dairy maid (whose cows are yaks) all sat breathless while a little black box emptied the Mississippi across the snowy plateau. (When we reached Peiping months later, I discovered that 'Ole Man River' had been written into 'The Epic of America.')

"Last night, scenery was swept away on the tide of a torch-song and there stood the Pamirs, as remote from showboats (or any boats) as the veriest landlubber could wish.

"'Forty-dollar hack' may be hard to translate into French, but how convey the broad sweep of 'Ole Man River' to those happy folks who pass their lives more than 10,000 feet above sea level?

"To you, 'Showboat' is a revival. To the Kirghiz, it was thrilling discovery. Sincerely yours,

"(Signed)

"MAYNARD OWEN WILLIAMS."

It is Victor Kiraly, manager of the "Show Boat" company, by the way, who tells me that Norma Terriss—with whom, I am informed in round-about fashion, I innocently failed to keep a Tuesday appointment I didn't know I had—has it in the back of her mind to make more extensive uses of her gift of mimicry and skill in characterization than are afforded in the brief impersonations of Ethel Barrymore, Lenore Ulric and Greta Garbo offered in the last act of "Show Boat."

Perhaps more vaguely formed than they will be later, are notions of developing some such intensively individualized form of entertainment as has brought fame to Yvette Guilbert, Ruth Draper, Beatrice Herford, Cornelia Otis Skinner and numerous others whose gifts have not at all exceeded or excelled Miss Terriss'. The thought deserves to be painstakingly and persistently nurtured.

Manager Orangelo Ratto, of the Palace, is doing his bit toward putting money back in circulation this morning by distributing 2,000 coins pasted to cards that will be given away gratuitously in front of the theater as a publicity stunt aimed at "Prosperity," in which Marie Dressler and Polly Moran will occupy the Palace screen for a week beginning today.

While there are a lot of pennies and nickels among the coins to be passed out, many lucky ones will be able to rejoice that good dimes are here at last, also!

Labor Units Start Boom for Colpoys

Post as Commissioner or in Federal Bureau Is Discussed.

John B. Colpoys, chairman of the central Democratic committee of the District of Columbia and editor of the Trade Unionist, official publication of the labor movement here, was indorsed as "our candidate" at a meeting of representatives of the Central Labor Union and the Washington Building Trades Council yesterday.

No specific post for Colpoys was stated in the resolution but an informal discussion was held as regards the position of District Commissioner and the possibility of some post in the Labor Department. Nothing official was decided upon, however.

Mr. Colpoys is secretary-treasurer of Labor's National Committee for Modification of the Volstead Act, and was formerly commissioner of conciliation in the Labor Department, having been appointed in President Wilson's administration.

"I AM A FUGITIVE FROM A CHAIN GANG." Warner Brothers' picturization of Robert E. Burns' autobiographical story, starring Paul Muni, supported by Helen Vinson, Noel Francis and Glenda Farrell. Directed by Mervyn Leroy. Reviewed second week by Dorothea Lewis.

This true story has been haunting us all week.

And so, where last week, in a somewhat weak-kneed mood, we rather warned you against this picture as entertainment, this week we warn you to see it for its shock of revelation of a part of this best of all possible worlds.

It is brutal and harrowing and heart-breaking (as we said a week ago), this story of a sensitive man whose life is utterly ruined through accidental involvement in a robbery which sends him to the torture of the chain gang with nothing to think about but escape; and after the panic of escape to hiding with its eternal fear of recapture. But it is real and memorable, for Actor Paul Muni and Director Leroy, through probably very conscious artistry and appreciation, have allowed the story to remain unself-conscious drama made up of realism at its drabbest, most obvious, most repetitious and detailed and at times slowest, all beating horror into the audience as it did into Robert Burns and into James Allen, his shadow reincarnation.

Paul Muni carries the picture alone, easily and superbly. His acting is incisive, vivid in its rightness, and as telling in its pantomimic moments as in the clash of dialogue. He is James Allen as no one else could be, though many might have played at it.

We're rarely been so glad for a second chance at a picture—just to set ourselves right on the record.

RIALTO

"AFRAID TO TALK." Universal picturization of "Merry-Go-Round," by George Sklar and Albert Maltz, featuring Eric Linden, Sidney Fox, Louis Calhern and Edward Arnold. Directed by Edward L. Cahn. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

Words are sometimes inadequate to describe the merits of a picture, especially when it is compounded of elements which have been utilized many times. It is such a case that now confronts your reviewer. "Afraid to Talk," the screen version of Sklar and Maltz's "Merry-Go-Round," is the familiar story of municipal corruption, gangsters dictating to the courts, and a framing to save the skins of the culprits.

Notwithstanding the familiarity of the narrative, this picture is so manifestly superior to its precursors in acting, direction, and setting that it shines with the brilliancy of originality and newness. Holding no brief against any particular city or individuals "Afraid to Talk" attacks the problem of civil intrigue with a force seldom attained in the cinema. Devoid of comedy and moving relentlessly from scene to scene, the drama runs its inevitable course, piling up, the while, a degree of cumulative intensity, that even the diverting subsidiary attractions can not entirely dispel.

It is not so much to Eric Linden, as the bellhop framed for murder, or to Sidney Fox, as his distraught wife, that stellar honors must be accorded, but rather to Ian MacLaren, as "chief;" Louis Calhern, as his principal aid, and Edward Arnold, as the dictatorial gangster, for it is around these latter men that this scathing indictment of municipal corruption revolves. Frank Sheridan, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Reginald Barlow uphold the cause of civic betterment.

This fleeting mention does not even approximate an adequate appraisal of the work of these people, or, for that matter, any of the 28 named characters. In every department of the cinema, this picture must be seen to be fully appreciated, for not only are the many characterizations played with vivid realism, but the director has treated his subject in a way to drain it of every drachm of inherent power and stark drama.

Even an eminent group of comedians, headed by Louise Fazenda, Marie Prevost and Bert Roach, seen in "Hesitating Love," or Graham McNamee's inimitable comments for Universal News can not completely loosen the dramatic tenseness of "Afraid to Talk."

To see "Afraid to Talk" will mean work of the heaviest sort—but, by all means, be sure to see it!

C. U. REGAINS M'VEAN FOR DUQUESNE TEST TONIGHT

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THE suspicion that the Notre Dame system of football existed and died with Knute alone is being brought into bolder relief this season with none of Rockne's disciples having developed sectional or national leaders.

But in Washington tonight two of the men who played under Rockne will send into battle teams which for the past two seasons have maintained splendid records in their class of competition. Dutch Bergman, of Catholic University, and Elmer Layden, of Duquesne, have been eminently successful among all of Rockne's pupils.

Three years ago, the Notre Dame system was sweeping the country like wildfire, with coaches being fired weekly in all sections so that their places might be filled by men who had learned their football under Rockne and could install the successful Notre Dame system at down-at-the-heel institutions. But none approached the success of the old master at South Bend.

Bergman and Layden Successful.

Bergman and Layden, however, have raised Catholic U. and Duquesne to new heights with a system founded on Rockne's methods, but with variations of their own making to fit the material at hand; lacking as they did the hundreds of candidate that were at the call of Rockne at South Bend.

Bergman was one of Rockne's immortals, earning All-American honors in the back field beside the late George Gipp on the 1919 team. Layden was more famed than Bergman at Notre Dame, gaining his All-American berth as a member of the Four Horsemen of 1924 in company with Stuhldreher, Crowley and Miller, who struck terror into the opposition from coast to coast.

Walter Camp, then the only accepted All-American authority, unhesitatingly nominated Bergman for a back field berth in the Notre Dame-Army game of 1919, when the present C. U. coach stole the show from the great Gipp. Camp termed Bergman the greatest triple-threat of the year.

Both Were Faced With Task.

Layden, one year out of Notre Dame, took over the coaching reins at Duquesne in 1927, and Bergman assumed charge of Catholic U.'s football destinies in 1930. Neither was confronted with particularly bright prospects, Bergman's 1930 team losing eight of its nine games.

During the past two seasons, however, the rapidly improving Cardinals came into their own under Bergman's patient and wise handling and now can boast of winning thirteen of their last fifteen games. They are undefeated on their home gridiron in two seasons and their only two defeats were suffered at the hands of Boston College and Holy Cross.

During Layden's six-year regime at Duquesne, his teams have won 37 games, tied 5 and lost 15, his masterpiece being achieved in 1929 when the Dukes won eight games and tied one, a 7-7 battle with West Virginia.

Dukes Have Shown To Advantage.

This season, Layden's Dukes are again showing to fine advantage. Though defeated by the mighty Pitt team and losing, 7-6, to West Virginia Wesleyan, Duquesne has been able to score major victories over West Virginia, Washington and Jefferson and South Dakota State.

Football fans of this section have taken kindly to the C. U.-Duquesne rivalry and indications are that it will be an annual battle for the two teams, with the scenes alternating between the Capital and Pittsburgh, home of the Dukes.

Duquesne beat C. U., 12-0, in 1930, but last year just as the Dukes were laying claims to some sort of fame, the Cardinals upset them by a 20-12 score. Tonight's battle is in the nature of a "rubber" contest.

Steele Beats Dusek in 44 Minutes

International Record for Strangle Holds Is Set.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

An intersectional record for strangling was established at the Washington Auditorium last night. Ray Steele and Rudy Dusek combined to set the record, which went to 44 minutes, and Ray happened to inflict the final strangle, so he won the match and advanced to the semifinal round of a rassling tournament being staged by Prof. Joe Turner.

His next tournament opponent probably will be Gino Garibaldi.

It looked like prosperity had turned that corner last night at the Auditorium. Chairs in the rear of the hall which had not been filled since Krishnamurti used to give his afternoon seances to the hefty housewives of the District, creaked under the weight of a good big crowd, while the two no-neck boys on the stage went through their intimate gyrations and buckled down to the task of strangling each other into something resembling submission.

Dusek Argues With Fan.

There were one or two other things in the match except strangling. Dusek got into an argument with an indignant fan and sent enough baleful glances in his direction to make neighbors within a 20-foot radius uneasy for their welfare. Then again Steele showed truly brilliant defensive rassling, breaking Dusek's best holds with a dispatch that left no doubt in mind just which was the better of the two old pals. Steele's breaking of Dusek's famous cradle rocks was masterful.

But strangling was the motif of this match, and the boys had not much time for any interfering twiddle-twaddle. The neck-compressing began shortly after Dusek grabbed the loose end of an adhesive plaster over a bright red boil on Steele's massive chest and pulled it off with excruciating thoroughness. From that time on they wore each other's necks down a full three sizes each, thus shrinking Dusek's to a mere 19¾.

Garibaldi Wins in 9 Minutes.

Garibaldi won his match with Steinborn without much trouble in 9 minutes with a couple of butts and two or three whatchacallem holts. Young Joe Cox disposed of tough Floyd Marshall in 13 minutes with a crotch hold and body slam. Joe Stecher, reformed wrestling champion, downed Pat McKay in 23 minutes with a No. 4 scissors, and Grandpa Chief White Feather scalped Great Grandfather Tiger Nelson in 18 minutes, with a chin lock that made the Tiger's liver spots fall off in droves.

Vines, Allison Enter South Wales Finals

Mrs. Van Ryn, the former Midge Gladman, also was eliminated from the women's play Mrs. Crawford defeated her, 6—3, 6—2.

Tigers-Green Urged To Heal Grid Breach

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 17 (A.P.).—In an effort to reestablish football relations between Princeton and Dartmouth, the Daily Dartmouth and the Daily Princetonian, undergraduate publications, joined today in urging resumption of the old football rivalry which was terminated in 1916.

The papers exchanged editorials on the subject, in which each urged the athletics authorities of the two institutions to make every effort to schedule a Dartmouth-Princeton game in 1934. Schedules of both colleges have been filled for next year.

Kansas Game Brought Notre Dame $28,225

Lawrence, Kans., Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Notre Dame's share of the gate receipts in the Ramblers' game with the University of Kansas here November 5 was announced today as $28,225.11. Total attendance was 17,887, about half the capacity of Memorial Stadium.

Kansas' share was not announced, but was unofficially estimated at $18,816.

American Association Plans "Innovations"

Indianapolis, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—The executive committee of the American Association, discussing its plans for the 1933 baseball season, met here this afternoon and again tonight, but out of its secret conference came only the indefinite promise of some "innovations" next year.

Norman A. Perry, president of the Indianapolis Club, said whatever recommendations are agreed upon by the committee will not be made public until they are presented to the meeting of the American Association Club Owners at Columbus, Ohio, December 5.

"Publicity on the proposed innovations will not be given until they are accepted or rejected," he said.

GIANTS FIGHT IN GARDEN TONIGHT

Carnera Picked for Early K. O. Over Jose Santa.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—The largest two heavyweights in the boxing business — Primo Carnera and Jose Santa—will launch themselves upon each other tomorrow night in a ten-round match in Madison Square Garden.

For the first time in his rambling career, the Italian gondola man must make physical concessions to an opponent. Santa, discovered in Portugal after Carnera started the craze for super-sized gladiators, is 6 feet 8 inches tall.

Carnera stands a mere 6 feet 6½ inches, but he makes up this disadvantage by outweighing the Portuguese 260 pounds to 251. Otherwise their fantastic measurements are almost the same, including items such as 84 inches of reach for Carnera and 83½ for Santa.

Carnera Choice for Early Knockout.

Santa has been thumped around considerably and his crowning achievement was a six-round knockout of Hans Birkie, the durable German. Carnera, who fought his best engagement in knocking out Victorio Campolo in two rounds in the Garden two years ago, has done little since Jack Sharkey walloped him in the summer of 1931.

Diegel Signs Again As Golf Pro at Agua

Agua Caliente, Mexico, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Leo Diegel has been signed again as professional of the Agua Caliente Golf Club after a summer of golfing in other parts.

Agua Caliente officials announced today "Larrupin' Leo" would resume his duties here in time to represent the club in the California State open at Pasadena next week. Diegel will be assisted by Bob "Whitey" Lewis, who has been in charge here since Leo's contract was dropped last spring for economic reasons.

Football Briefs

(Associated Press.)

WEST POINT, N. Y.—Planning to take West Virginia Wesleyan in its stride, Army continued to hold secret preparations for the Notre Dame game. The coaches refused to say a word about what went on behind the curtains.

Ithaca, N. Y.—Cornell's Varsity went through a short offensive scrimmage with the emphasis put on interference and blocking. The entire repertoire of plays was rehearsed.

New York—Columbia's defense against Syracuse plays was effective in an hour's scrimmage against the "Coaches" team. Two of the Coaches, Paul Liston and Joe Stanczyk, were kept on the sidelines by injuries suffered in earlier scrimmages but the regulars lined up as usual.

Philadelphia—Penn's regulars scored three touchdowns against the junior varsity in a brisk scrimmage. Eddie Masnyage, injured quarter back, was on the sidelines minus his crutches but still using a cane.

Cambridge, Mass.—Attended by the cold, Harvard held its final home drill before the Yale game, a brisk signal practice. The players were full of confidence and Coach Eddie Casey said he would make no changes in the line-up that has been drilling all week.

New Haven, Conn.—Yale drilled on the new plays it intends to use against Harvard and then called a halt to all hard practice work. There was some dismay in the Blue's camp when it was learned Joe Johnson, regular center who was hurt in the Army game, had been denied permission to play Saturday.

New Brunswick, N. J.—Rutgers ran through signals to close its home work for the wind-up game with Springfield. A squad of 36 was picked to make the trip to Massachusetts. A drill will be held at Springfield tomorrow.

Ted Dailey, veteran left end, has recovered from injuries and probably will start the game, but four other first-stringers, Cuba, Onder, Hogan and Sebastian, appeared definitely relegated to the bench.

East Moves Toward Peace As South and West War

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—In contrast with the current tendency among some of the leading Southern and Far Western gridiron forces to glare at each other, if indeed they do not actually break off relations, the trend in the East now seems to be definitely on the side of peace and a better understanding.

This is, obviously, somewhat of a reversal. Within the past half dozen years, when bigger and better crackups in gridiron relations occurred, the East seemed able to produce them. The celebrated Harvard-Princeton and Army - Syracuse "breaks" were followed by the reverberating Army-Navy split-up. Other upheavals threatened.

Vanderbilt and Tulane at Odds.

The cycle of reconciliation has not been completed, by any means. But while this season has developed the Vanderbilt-Tulane "break" in a series of Southern misunderstandings, and, on the Coast, such natural rivals as Southern California and U. C. L. A., have displayed bitter feelings, the East is witnessing a revival of old friendships, topped off by the complete and official restoration of good relations between West Point and Annapolis.

Pittsburgh engaged Pennsylvania again for the first time in seven years, although this reunion was a trifle brisk along the front line. The Panthers renew relations next year with another old rival—Washington and Jefferson.

Princeton met Columbia this season, after a long lapse, and will renew football rivalry with Brown at Providence in 1933, but there does not seem much prospect of a resumption of Harvard-Princton gridiron relations before 1935.

Bitterness of 1926 Forgotten.

Meanwhile, however, the bitterness engendered by the 1926 break in the old Big Three has disappeared. Harvard-Princeton relations have been resumed in other sports. Although Princeton's published football schedules for the next two years do not include Harvard, there is a spot for a 1934 game with the Crimson, if the rotating schedule sought by the Tigers should suddenly find favor at Cambridge.

Boston observers have gathered that the groundwork already has been laid for a quadrangular gridiron arrangement, including Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Dartmouth. All this requires now is for the Tigers to get together again with Harvard and Dartmouth.

Cornell will revive an old and spectacular rivalry by playing Michigan next season, meanwhile foreging the game with Princeton for a year. As yet, however, no indication has been forthcoming as to when up-State New York football fans may find those natural rivals, Cornell and Syracuse, getting together on the gridiron.

CRECCA MAY START FOR MARYLAND

Showed Good Form at Navy; Contest Important.

TEAMS with like problems will be meeting tomorrow afternoon at Lexington, Va., when Maryland tangles with Washington and Lee in the Generals' home-coming day contest, which both teams are keenly anxious to win.

A victory for Maryland, Old Line coaches believe, will give the Terps enough momentum to sweep over Johns Hopkins next week and go into the Western Maryland game, the final tilt of the season, with a fair chance to win.

The Old Liners resemble Washington and Lee in that both teams were almost wrecked this year by graduations last June, and both still are in the process of rebuilding. Sophomore material is being depended upon greatly by both squads, and both teams have shown marked advances in caliber since the start of the year.

Both Won Last Games.

Six sophomores will start for Maryland tomorrow, and Washington and Lee will have five.

The fine play of Joe Crecca, substitute back, in the Navy game last week has all but won him a place on the first squad. It is not known whether he will start in place of Dick Nelson tomorrow, but he will see about as much service as the local boy.

The remainder of the Maryland line-up will read: Hines and Benner, ends; Farrell and Keenan, tackles; Rouzer and McDonald, guards; Webb, center; Poppelman, Widmyer and Woods, backs. The squad leaves by bus this afternoon.

Maryland Not on Navy Grid Schedule in 1933

Trouble by the Navy football schedule makers has caused Maryland to relinquish its tacit claim to a game with the Middies in 1933, it was learned yesterday. About the only remaining spot where the game could be fitted next year in the Navy schedule would be between Pittsburgh and Princeton, and Navy was prone to meet an easier foe than Maryland between these two important tussles.

The 1934 Maryland-Navy game probably will be played in Washington.

The 1933 Maryland schedule will not suffer particularly through the loss of the Navy game, for it includes both Florida and Tulane.

Georgetown Ready for Bucknell

Exceptional Spirit Is Shown by Hoyas in Final Drill.

Walacavage Is Only G. U. Regular to Be Missing.

ANOTHER rough workout concluded Georgetown's week of training yesterday and today the Hoyas go through a light tuning-up session on the eve of their meeting tomorrow with Bucknell at Griffith Stadium.

Walter Walacavage, 190-pound guard, will be out of the line-up tomorrow because of injuries, but otherwise the Georgetown team will be in about its best physical shape of the year. No radical changes in line-ups are expected to be made by Coach Hagerty.

Unprecedented spirit was shown by the Hoya team in its workout yesterday, and supporters maintain that it is that much-needed rah-rah which has been missing from the team all year. The first and second squads worked out against one another in the mire of the Hilltop field and trotted off near dark, worn and weary but with more of a knowledge of the Warner system of play.

Bucknell Choice Over Georgetown.

Bucknell has had its worst season in years, but that means that it has lost more than two games. To be exact, the Bisons have been defeated four times and have won four games. One of their losses was administered by Washington and Jefferson last week, 14 to 0, although Bucknell outrushed the winners by the tremendous margin of seventeen first downs to four.

The Bisons do not have the heft and drive of the great unbeaten 1931 team, but they loom as a distinct favorite over the Georgetown team, which has lost five straight games and has only a fighting chance of keeping from being defeated in its final two games.

Georgetown's losing streak started more than a month ago, against New York University, and has continued against Western Maryland, Detroit, West Virginia and West Virginia Wesleyan. Besides Bucknell, the Hoyas must meet Carnegie Tech, another foe of almost insurmountable football skill.

But the spirits of the Hoyas are ace high. They point out that Al Kelly is now at his peak, and that Wilmer Bradley, Johnny Shimmens, Johnny Dee and Mack Stanley, fine leg-driving backs, are bound to raise trouble.

Basket Ball Meeting Of Government League

Football Contest Will Close Tonight

WHEN the gong strikes, it will be exactly 12 o'clock midnight tonight. And when the gong strikes the fifth of the popular Washington Post football contests will come to an end, with hundreds of local fans already having sent in their selections and more coming in every mail.

Below are printed eleven games to be played tomorrow. Jot down the scores by which you think your favorites will win, and mail the result to the Football Contest Editor of The Post before midnight.

Here is a contest well worth winning, for tickets to the big intersectional game between George Washington and Oklahoma are at stake. The game will be played on Thanksgiving afternoon, between turkey and turkey hash. Four box seats will go to the winner; two grand stands to the second-place winner and one grand stand to the third-place taker.

It might help you to take a glance at the last Monday morning's Post football chart for scores of all the games the teams listed below have played this year.

Twelve games were originally listed in this contest, but the Georgetown-Bucknell game was inadvertently omitted from the list printed in some editions of The Post. Consequently this game will be thrown out of consideration and the winner selected on his or her showings regarding the eleven games shown below.

NAVY LEAVES FOR IRISH GAME

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 17.—In near perfect condition physically after a strenuous campaign, due to careful handling by their mentors, and exhibiting a jovial mental attitude, the Naval Academy football squad departed from Annapolis tonight for Cleveland, where on Saturday the sixth renewal of a series with Notre Dame that began back in 1927 will be staged. The game will be played in Cleveland Municipal Stadium, beginning at 2 o'clock, and will be broadcast over a N. B. C. hook-up.

During the afternoon, the Middies engaged in a two-hour workout that was more of a light romp, the program including offensive and defensive passing and a brief session of dummy scrimmaging to give the finishing touches to certain special plays designed to punctuate the Notre Dame system, the latter of which is identical with the style used by the Ramblers. In the final round-up, Head Coach Rip Miller devoted special attention to his reserves, and was assisted by Johnny O'Brien and Ensign Gordon Underwood, line coaches, while Christy Flannagan frolicked along with the first-string back field men during a lengthy session of offensive and defensive passing.

Forty-three players were taken on the trip, though the party, including officers, coaches, medical attendants and rubbers, numbered 75. The train is due in Cleveland at 9:30 in the morning, and the team will have a final prep on the playing field in the afternoon.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY football stock zoomed today when the team physician gave permission to Charley McVean, injured quarter back, to participate in tonight's big battle at Griffith Stadium against Duquesne, which starts at 8:15 o'clock and brings together two virtually equal teams.

McVean, whose knees have been bothering him throughout most of Catholic University's triumphant year, may mean the difference between success and failure tonight for C. U. With him out of the game Catholic University is at a distinct disadvantage, despite its great trio of backs, Whelan, Sheary and Jankowski, for McVean is the only real punter on the team.

Coach Dutch Bergman believes that punting will play a definite part in tonight's game, for the two teams seem evenly matched in every particular, even to the style of play they each use. Duquesne believes it can trump Whelan with Silvio Zaninelli, and Sheary with little Larry Sullivan.

Both Are Disciples Of Rockne Style.

Since each club is addicted to the Notre Dame style of play, and both coaches—Bergman and Elmer Layden—attended Knute Rockne's school of instruction, the players themselves are familiar with each other's plays, or should be anyway. To offset this turn of events both coaches have schooled their clubs in new and different plays to be unleashed at proper moments tonight. C. U. has been particularly keen on this sort of thing this week, and has ironed out many new and sensational combinations, including one double lateral that is a real scoring threat.

Another way in which McVean will be a great service tonight is his passing ability, which, while it is not vastly superior to the passing of Tommy Whelan, who does the throwing when McVean is out, it nevertheless leaves Whelan free of one job and gives him more chances at carrying the ball. Also it makes Whelan even more potent, in that he can receive passes, a knack at which he was sensational last year when little Johnny Oliver was throwing them for old C. U.

Alumni Attracted by "Home Coming."

Unprecedented advance sale for tonights' game augurs well for a crowd of more than 10,000, the largest to witness C. U. play in a long while. It is the school's home-coming game, and alumni all over the East have wired for tickets.

Duquesne, coached for the past four years by Layden, full back of the great Four Horsemen combination at Notre Dame, arrived in Washington late yesterday and worked out at Griffith Stadium under the lights last night.

Catholic U. and Loyola Shift Game to Nov. 26

Catholic University has moved the date of its Loyola College game from Thanksgiving to Saturday, November 26. This leaves Washington with but one game on Turkey Day—the C. W.-Oklahoma intersectional fray.

Loyola and C. U. have been rivals for many years. Their annual meeting brings out a great assortment of football tricks. C. U., with one of the greatest teams in its history, beat Loyola last year by a 13-0 count.

TAMBOUR WINS THIRD STRAIGHT IN BOWIE FEATURE RACE

Burch's Filly Victor Over Risque

Forces Pace Under Hanford and Wins by 3-4 Length.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

TAMBOUR, owned and trained by Preston Burch, of Washington, did everything expected of an odds-on favorite in wining The Rose Hill, yesterday's feature race at Bowie. The 4-year-old filly, a daughter of General Thatcher and Castanet, led Risque, the property of Mrs. John D. Hertz, home by three parts of a length, with Con Amore third, seven lengths behind. Buddy Hanford had the mount on the winner, which rewarded the faithful with a $3.70 mutuel.

The largest crowd of the meeting—in the neighborhood of 12,000—witnessed the program and was treated to several nose decisions which were clapped and booed according to which way the money was betting.

Con Amore was first to show in front as Starter Milton sent the field away in ragged order, but Risque had taken the lead as the field banked the clubhouse turn. Tambour was now second and Porter's Dream third.

Risque's Challenge Fails.

Risque and Jockey Steffen made a bid to steal the race going down the back stretch, but Hanford held Tambour close by. It was not until the field straightened out in the stretch, that Hanford called on the filly for full speed. Once let out, Tambour slid past the tiring Risque to triumph.

Oral found the muddy track to his liking and under Danny Meade's urging, won the opening dash for maiden 2-year-olds with ease. Oral broke on top and opened up a wide lead going to the first turn. Lezev was closest to the leader at the finish and Lower Ten, the favorite, was third.

In a blanket finish that seemed to have the judges puzzled, Up, the favorite, was awarded the decision over My Purchase in the second. Third money went to Sergt. Donaldson by a slim margin over Hacky H. Three noses separated the leaders. Camp Boss and Sergt. Donaldson did the bulk of the early running, followed by Grand Prince and Bright Bird. Up worked his way up on the outside and, under Baker's whip, barely made the grade. My Purchase shot up on the inside with a rush that many believed earned him the verdict.

Maradadi Wins Third At $31.10.

Maradadi, the property of Marshall Field, gave the boys a jolt in the third race—another nose margin. Cutie Face was the second one this time, with Fair Image third. Maradadi moved up to battle it out with Cutie Face as the field approached the turn for the stretch and Long, on the winner, and Robertson, on Cutie Face, rode with everything they had throughout the stretch. Maradadi paid a $31.10 mutuel.

Flamborough, a colt that could have been bought for $1,500 a while back, led a field of good 2-year-olds to the wire in the Ravensworth, better known as the fifth race. Flamborough battled to gain the lead and then Malley kept him on top. Fingal did most of the pressing, but Silent Shot, a long shot, split the leaders with a fast finish to take the place. Blondish upset the talent in the sixth to pay a $22 mutuel, while the last went to the favored Marcasite.

LUSTINE-NICHOLSON WINS.

Lustine-Nicholson's 130-pound quintet defeated the Warwick Flashes, 47-18, in a one-sided game played at Hyattsville last night. Calhoun and Quantrille were prominent in the winning attack while Nalley was best for the losers.

5 PARTS

Each with a definite duty, carcass, tread, breaker, sidewall and head, go to make up a tire. The real problem is to so construct the tire that these parts, working together, will perform their individual functions with the greatest efficiency. May we tell you how MILLER does this?

DEAR AL: BOWIE RACE TRACK.

They would have me believe that there is a certain brand of mud between oozy mud and sticky mud that Con Amore cannot run on. I have racked my brain in an effort to arrive at the exact proportions of dirt and water that throw fear into the heart of this courageous mare. I confess that I was searching for an alibi for her after she failed me yesterday. I didn't believe that story about smooth shoes. It's just possible that I found the answer in the footnotes of the chart—"Con Amore, allowed to drop out of contention and race on her own courage, was mildly shaken up and passed tired horses." But, after all, I'm getting paid for calling my shots, not explaining them. BILL.

FIRST RACE—INGLENOOK hasn't had an outing since Havre de Grace, when he kept some pretty fair company. Trials on this one have been flattering, and I believe he should graduate in this cheap field. HIGH SOCKS has been close many times and may be second. REVELATION is a possible surprise here.

SECOND RACE—LIQUEUR may be better than many believe. His last two have been impressive against good fields. Forced to give him a chance to strut his stuff in this company. CODETTA was a hot tip last out and failed to run to trials. CHATTERFOL may be the upsetter.

THIRD RACE—CHRYSOSTOM did all that I asked of him the last time over the same kind of course expected today. MR. KHAYYAM for the place. I have not given up all hope for JUNGLE KING.

FOURTH RACE—TREMENDOUS is getting a pile of weight from the principal speedsters in this. The track will be peaches for this Canter filly, and I would not be surprised to see her win at a startling mutuel. MONEL and RUSH HOUR are both front runners and may save the place for the Labret interests.

FIFTH RACE—MERRY FOX tried to be a field horse in a five-horse race the other day, hopping the fence and heading through the meadows. Came back to run a smashing race and will be mighty hard to beat. ACTION may be ready for place here. SIR KENDAL would have little excuse for that terrible Pimlico race by winning here, but may be second now that the maiden mark is off.

SIXTH RACE—POLAR BRUSH ran a smart race the last time and can take these. HELEN BAB and PRETTY WISE for the rest. Watch out for the last named.

SEVENTH RACE—SYRIAC takes off weight, and these smart people may get the desired price. They have awaited a chance like this, so get yours. ENGLEWOOD and TOTEM for the rest.

ORAL sprinted into a commanding lead at once, showed good ability in the footing and was never in danger. LEZEV worked her way up on the outside, wore LOWER TEN down, but could not threaten the winner. LOWER TEN, saving ground wherever possible, responded when placed to punishment, but tired during the stretch run. AL JOLSON was hard ridden and gave his best throughout. ROYAL DURBAR lost ground while making up some ground. SWINCOURT broke from the outside and raced evenly. WILD MONEY had early speed.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—UP, $5.80, $3.40, $2.70; MY PURCHASE, $4.60, $3.40; SERGT. DONALDSON, $10.80.

UP, working his way up on the outside after being tardy at the break, swung to the outside of the leaders in the final drive and, in a game finish, was up in the last strides. MY PURCHASE weaved his way through between his field when entering contention, slipped through on the inside during the stretch run and finished fastest of all. SERGT. DONALDSON were the early leaders, approaching the home stretch, and fought it out courageously nearing the finish. HACKY H. circled his field and closed stoutly. CHU CHU came with a rush at the end. CAMP BOSS, GRAND PRINCE and SOUPCON had early speed.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Scandal. For 2-year-old fillies. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:22. Off at 2:23. Winner, M. Field's ch. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MARADADI, $31.10, $12.40, $8.10; CUTIE FACE, $4.90, $4.00; FAIR IMAGE, $4.60.

MARADADI, outrun for the first half mile, swung to the outside when nearing the leaders, closed gamely and was up in the final strides. CUTIE FACE, a strong factor throughout, saved a lot of ground during the stretch run and just failed to get up. FAIR IMAGE, forwardly placed, came with good courage in the final drive. GALA TIME lunged into the air when the break came, worked his way up on the outside and was racing gamely at the end. ZORANA was used up forcing the pace and weakened. KATE was outrun. JESTINO lacked speed. MERRY CHATTER labored in the going and quit badly.

FOURTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,200; allowances. The Rose Hill. For 3-year-olds and upward, fillies and mares. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 2:54. TAMBOUR, quited in the footing and well placed while going in hand, wore RISQUE down when ready and had speed in reserve at the end. RISQUE, rated in front and saving all possible ground, continued with good energy when challenged. CON AMORE, allowed to drop out of contention and race on her own courage, was mildly shaken up and passed tiring horses. PARRY and PORTER'S DREAM went well placed for six furlongs.

FIFTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,200; allowances. The Ravensworth. For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:30. Off at 3:33. FLAMBOROUGH, hurried to the front and rated along smoothly while resisting every contention from FINGAL, was shaken up nearing the finish and had enough left to stall off SILENT SHOT. Latter, prominent throughout, finished strong when straightened into the home stretch. FINGAL, kept out in the firmer footing, held on gamely when placed to punishment. BURNING FEET, placed too severely in the final half mile, was making up ground steadily. ESPINETTA could not enter contention until the final stages. WHITE THORN had no excuses. STEALINGAWAY retired early.

BLONDISH, following within striking distance of the leaders, came around the faltering pacemakers when entering the home stretch, was placed on punishment and outstayed HAGGERSON. Latter raced BUTTER BEANS into submission, gained a slight lead and fought it out with excellent courage. HAPPEN worked her way up gradually and finished strongest of all at the end. WISHING STAR made a good effort when straightened into the home stretch, but weakened right at the end. DAILY NEWS was held safe. PENCADER was never a factor. BUTTER BEANS and BROADWAY LIGHTS stopped badly.

MARCASITE, sent into the thick of contention, moved around the leaders with a rush to take command when reaching the home stretch, was kept under strong urging and outstayed LUCKY RACKET. Latter improved his position gradually, came through on the inside when straightened into the home stretch and finished strong. LILLYBET went into an easy lead, withstood repeated efforts from INDIAN WITCH and held on well. LADY BLUE went wide and finished with good energy. INDIAN WITCH weakened in the final quarter mile. MUFF was outrun. ZENKA went extremely wide at the first turn and was never a factor.

G. W. FROSH DEFEAT 2D TEAM, 8-0

Plotnick's 48-Yard Run Clinches Victory Before 1,000.

THE overstuffed Freshmen of George Washington University administered an 8-0 beating to their more exalted brothers, the Varsity Radio Squad, yesterday in knee-deep mud at Griffith Stadium before a crowd of nearly 1,000.

The big Freshmen, made even bigger by layer after layer of mud which covered them from head to foot, crawled to victory in a two-minute offensive in the third quarter, after a couple of tubes had evidently blown out in the defensive play of the Radio Boys. It was hailed as a great victory by the three Freshman rooters in the stand, who were showered with the butt ends of stray hot dogs at the conclusion of their organized cheers.

Plotnick (freshmen don't have first names) scored the touchdown for the Freshmen on a wild 48-yard run around end. He weathered three tackles at the line of scrimmage, as the clawing hands of the Radio Boys slithered off his slimy football hide. Once clear he began to hotfoot it for the goal line. But he couldn't get up any speed, and Doty Trilling, quarter back of the Radio Boys, caught up with him, and appeared to match strides with him, but made no attempt at a tackle.

Steele Tackled in End Zone.

The remaining two points credited to the Freshmen three minutes earlier in that third period were scored on a safety when Stagg, Freshman end, tackled Steele in the end zone. It was a beautiful flying tackle, and the two hit the oozy ground with such force that they slid at a lively rate and collided with one of the iron goal posts. Stagg was closer to the post and had the wind knocked out of him.

The Radio Boys had been carried back that far by a plodding 40-yard march, which the Freshmen started when they took command of the ball on the 45-yard line. Short, legdriving bucks off tackle moved the ball right down the field, 3 yards at a crack, with Bambo doing most of the pigskin lugging. The drive petered out on the 5-yard line.

The stubborn Freshman line, which averages about 198 pounds, was pushed back to about the 10-yard line in the first quarter, but otherwise it combined nicely with the mud to keep the Radio Boys quite harmless.

G. W. U. Scouts Leave To Watch Oklahoma U.

The Colonial coaching staff is eagerly looking forward to the meeting between Oklahoma and the team which outplayed Pittsburgh last week.

Handley High Wins From Strasburg, 20-0

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Nov. 17.—Successfully manipulating an aerial attack in two quarters of the game, the Handley High School eleven romped to a 20-to-0 victory over Strasburg High School in the annual game between the two schools on Handley Field here this afternoon.

Passing attacks from the hands of Garber and Stine to Cahill and Fletcher were responsible for most of the ground gained by the locals, while Garber also added much territory through the line. The feature play of the game was an intercepted Strasburg pass by Garber and subsequent 43-yard run. Strasburg started a rally in the fourth period which netted their only three first downs of the game, the visitors being led on the offense by Kline and Wake. A fumble stopped their advance within 20 yards of the goal.

Dr. Otell Winner In Washington Golf

Dr. Larry Otell, with an 81, yesterday carried off low gross honors in the golf tournament at the Washington Golf and Country Club staged by physicians who have offices in the Washington and Columbia medical buildings.

Dr. Don Johnson, of Congressional, with an 84, won second low gross prize.

A tie for first low net prize resulted between Dr. Thomas F. Foley, of Chevy Chase, with 88—15—73, and Dr. William N. Sweet, of Washington, with 98—25—73.

Dr. Otell and Dr. Bruce L. Taylor, of Congressional, claimed the distinction of making birdie 3's on the eighteenth hole.

Hitting the Headpin

SIX years ago Ed Metlock shaved the maples for a dazzling score of 412 to establish an all-time set record in the War Department League. In the intervening years none had approached that remarkable record, but last night it was erased from the board and the new score of 415, the pride and joy of Dick Hart, inscribed in its stead. Hart's best game in the three amounted to 143. The Adjutants came through with a 597 game and 1,678 set to take the team honors. It all happened at Arcadia.

Reb Orme, rolling for The Washington Post team in the Daylight League, turned in a season record with a 399 set. Orme had games of 141, 131 and 127. His effort led The Post five to a high team set of 1,653 and two wins over the Herald.

Hugh Crawley established an all-time record for the Mount Rainier League with a set of 442 last night at the suburban alleys. His games were 136, 152 and 154.

Land's 1,639 and 573 game topped the team scoring in the Interior Department League at Columbia. Phelps' 363 total for the three games, and Overheim's 137 topped the scoring.

The work of Booth, who rolled 397 and 165, featured the I. C. C. Examiners League at Columbia. Cost led the teams with its 575 game and 1,639 set.

Capt. Mary Thompson and her Agriculture teammates had things pretty much their own way in the Ladies Federal League at Arcadia. Miss Thompson rolled high set, 332, and high game, 129, while the team hung up a season's record with its 1,545 set. Its best game, 541, was only two pins shy of the record.

Injured W.-M. Stars Return to Grid Line-up

Williamsburg, Va., Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Heartened by the promise that most of the injured regulars would be ready for Saturday's fray, William and Mary's Indians today continued their preparations for their game with Emory and Henry.

Capt. Happy Halligan is expected to assume his position at end after a brief lay-off, due to sickness, and Charlie Shade is counted on to be in there calling signals.

Jerry Quirk, tackle, is not expected to be ready for the fray, but may be able to participate in the tilt with Richmond University Thanksgiving Day.

New Zealand Racer To Pass Up Agua Stake

San Francisco, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Ammon Ra, famed 4-year-old New Zealand gelding competing in this country next January, is to pass up the Agua Caliente $50,000 Handicap March 26.

Alfred J. Richardson, representative in this country of Clifford C. Sheath, New Zealand lumberman who owns Ammon Ra, made this announcement today.

"We have received offers from tracks in Chicago, Maryland and New Orleans," Richardson said. "Augua Caliente officials had no authority to make the announcement yesterday in which they inferred Ammon Ra was coming over to try to win the handicap, as did Phar Lap."

Stocks Yield Ground Again In Dull, Professional Sales

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Stocks gave up a little more ground today, although they held much better than grains. Volume was the smallest in a fortnight, and activity so substantially professional that the minor fluctuations appeared to represent only the "in and out" transactions of floor traders.

Changes over the day showed frequent shifts of direction, but all the moves were of minor extent. However, the undertone was easy and although one of the little rallies came at the close, most leading issues finished a shade off. Except for Homestake Mining, which jumped nearly 3 points, there were no outstanding swings, such as occurred yesterday. Farm implement stocks were unaffected by losses running close to 2 cents a bushel in wheat.

Foreign angles to the news received most attention. Sterling had a sharp reaction and German bonds dipped when resignation of the Von Papen government was announced. The still-present debt prbolem may have been less a factor in market hesitation than of late, but Wall street's unwillingness to venture very far from the sidelines at this juncture was quite evident.

Net losses in prices were almost entirely fractional. United States Steel, American Can, Bethlehem, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Anaconda, National Biscuit, American Tobacco "B," North American, Western Union, Consolidated Gas, New York Central, Pennsylvania and Santa Fe averaged half a point lower. Losses of around a point appeared in Westinghouse, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Lackawanna. Penick & Ford profited by declaration of a larger extra dividend than had been paid last year. Homestake's strength coincided with news of larger gold production in the United States during September and the general letdown of commodity prices.

Stock Sales Totaled 700,040 Shares.

To what extent sterling's weakness was due to trading by professionals in the foreign exchange market was impossible to determine.

It was assumed, however, that the possibility of "no concession" by Congress on the December 15 payment had something to do with the break. One section of Wall street opinion believes the French and British governments have at hand the debt installments, but it is being pointed out that, in case of England, a $95,000,000 draft would undoubtedly unsettle the pound.

Bancorporation Votes To Make Shares No Par

Minneapolis, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Directors of the Northwest Bancorporation voted today to change its capital stock from shares of $50 par value to shares without par value and to set aside a reserve fund of $14,000,000.

The change in par value eliminates from the capital structure allowance for good will of the Bancorporation and the 127 affiliated banks and trust companies in eight Northwest States. Reduction in the authorized number of shares from 6,000,000 to 2,000,000 was favored also. Action of the directors was subject to approval of the stockholders at a special meeting called for December 9 in Minneapolis.

Stocks.

Stock yielded ground again in dull, professional trading. The average loss was only five-tenths of a point. Sales volume dropped to 700,040 shares. Foreign news attracted attention. Nearly all price changes were fractional.

Bonds.

United States loans showed some firming tendencies, but the general list drifted lower. The average loss was three-tenths of a point. Sales volume climbed to $7,001,000. Trading was extremely listless. Phone issues advanced.

Curb.

The market drifted idly to lower ground, but losses were trimmed by a moderate closing rally. The volume of sales sank to 100,000 shares. Mining issues were influenced adversely by copper's weakness. The market neglected oils. Electric Bond & Share prices rallied.

Wheat.

Breaks in British exchange, the resignation of the German cabinet and slumps in domestic securities were blamed for the dip in wheat of 1⅛ to 2 cents per bushel. Other grains also declined. December wheat sold at 43 to 43⅛ cents.

Cotton.

Quiet trading caused narrow fluctuations, and the market closed 2 to 5 points under Wednesday's quotations. December sold at 6.28, or 2 points down. Liverpool reported smaller market dealing, with a stronger demand for cotton goods.

BONDS DRIFT LOWER IN LISTLESS TRADING

Average Loss Three-Tenths in Sales Turnover of $7,001,000.

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—United States Government issues and other high grade loans displayed firming tendencies today, but the remainder of the bond market drifted lower in extremely listless trading.

Most traders and investors remained in safe seclusion, waiting for some development that might indicate a more definite price trend. Sales totaled only $7,001,000, par value, and the Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate bonds lost three-tenths of a point.

The principal Federal activity was in Treasury 3s and 3¼s. The latter gained six-thirty-seconds of a point and the former were up four-thirty-seconds. Most of the other Government maturities advanced fractionally in much smaller volume.

The resignation of Chancellor von Papen and his cabinet acted as a deterrent to German loans, a number of which dropped fractions to around 2 points. Japanese bonds were heavy, reflecting the budgetary troubles of the Far Eastern empire. Obligations of Great Britain eased, along with those of Australia, Argentina, Italy, Norway and Uruguay.

In the domestic sector most of the American Telephones advanced moderately, as did some issues of Consolidated Gas, Detroit Edison, Houston Oil, National Steel, International Paper, Texas Corporation, Shell Union Oil, Chesapeake & Ohio and Grand Trunk of Canada.

Most of the speculative rail liens failed to reflect any great optimism from the granting of a large loan by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the Baltimore & Ohio. Canadian National and Pacific Railway securities were off from 1 to 2 points while losses of a point or more were recorded by some issues of Rock Island, Central Pacific, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Philippines Railway, Southern Pacific and Southern. Baltimore & Ohio bonds were a trifle lower.

Utility and industrial casualties of around a point were suffered by issues of American & Foreign Power, Colon Oil, International Telephone, Keith Corporation, North American Edison, Philadelphia, Reading Coal & Iron, Portland General Electric, Postal Telegraph and Warner Bros.

U.S. Output of Gold Reaches '32 High Peak in September

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Production of gold in the United States during September reached another new high for the year, it was announced today by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics, which estimated production at 246,000 fine ounces, at $5,084,820, compared with an August output of 241,000 ounces worth $4,981,470.

While gold output increased in some other countries, none of them established new high records for August and September as did the United States. Production in Australia and New Zealand advanced to 82,000 fine ounces, while the Belgian Congo reported 21,000 ounces and British West Africa, 25,000 ounces.

Both South Africa and Canada, the two largest producers in the world, showed a decreased production for September as compared with August. The South Africa mines produced 962,000 fine ounces in September against 991,000 ounces in August while Canada's output declined from 263,000 ounces in August to 260,000 in September.

The output of the entire world totaled 1,901,000 ounces in September compared with 2,091,000 in August. World production for the first nine months of 1932 is estimated at 17,-499,000 fine ounces, valued at $357,-570,330.

10 States Propose Crude Oil Curbing

Advisory Group Suggests 2,045,000 Barrels as Daily Limit.

Houston, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—The allowable production committee of the Ten States Oil Advisory Committee today recommended that the domestic crude output be limited to 2,045,000 barrels daily until January 1, 1933, and to 2,000,000 barrels per day from January 1 to April 1.

The report, signed by Thurman Hill, Kansas, as chairman; Cullen F. Thomas, Texas, and Cicero Murray, Oklahoma, suggested this allotment as between States, for the two periods: Before January 1—Oklahoma, 390,000; Kansas, 94,000; Texas, 838,000; California, 440,000; Louisiana, 64,000; Arkansas, 34,000; Mountain States, 75,000; Eastern States, 101,000; Michigan, 22,000.

After January 1—Oklahoma, 375,000; Kansas, 92,000; Texas, 800,000; California, 440,000; Louisiana, 63,000; Arkansas, 33,000; Mountain States, 75,000; Eastern States, 101,000; Michigan, 21,000. "In making this recommendation, we have studied the forecasts made by the Bureau of Mines and the American Petroleum Institute committee, and if carried out, will result in the continuation of stabilized conditions for the oil industry," the chairman said.

Loans to Brokers Down $16,000,000

Total Advance for Week Is $344,000,000; Drop Under '31 Period.

(Associated Press.)

Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve Member Banks for the week ended November 16 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board yesterday as $334,000,000, a decline of $16,000,000 from the previous week.

The loans for the week ended November 18, 1931, were $775,000,000. The detailed distribution of the loans over the three weeks dealt with in the board's report was:

For own account, November 16, $326,000,000; November 9, $341,000,000; November 18, $623,000,000.

For account of out-of-town banks, November 16, $12,000,000; November 9, $13,000,000; November 18, $140,000,000.

For account of others, November 16, $6,000,000; November 9, $6,000,000; November 18, $12,000,000.

Lack of Buying Cancels Part of Copper Advance

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Virtual absence of buying interest has had the effect of canceling some of the recent price advance in the copper export market, it was reported in trade circles today. Offerings have been made from 5.55 cents to 5.70 cents a pound against recent levels of 5.65 to 5.75 cents.

It is understood that custom smelters, under a special ruling of Copper Exporters, Inc., are offering metal at 5.62½ cents without attracting business. The domestic market shows little life. Metal is obtainable to the end of 1932 at 5¾ cents a pound, with custom smelters asking 5½ cents for first quarter 1933 shipments.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Prices on the stock exchange were unsettled. Continued weakness in sterling exchange and uncertainty over the war debt situation induced selling in gilt-edged securities. Foreign bonds and other sections also declined. The closing was weak and prices near the lowest of the session.

Paris—Heaviness in Wall street and London affected opening prices on the bourse. There was a slight general betterment later. Most rentes and international issues were steadily lower. market closed heavy.

Berlin—Trading on the boerse was dull and the closing was weaker due to political uncertainty.

CURB TRIMS LOSSES IN MODERATE RALLY

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—The curb market drifted idly today, tending lower most of the trading, but closing on the crest of a moderate rally, most leaders showing scant losses. Transfers totaled 100,000 shares, or half of yesterday's total.

Electric Bond & Share showed little response to the directors' action in declaring the regular quarterly dividend on the common. It gained more than a point at one time, but closed the session up half a point. Other utilities were steady. American Gas & Electric was off a fraction, but American Superpower, Cities Service, Niagara Hudson Power and United Light & Power "A," after fluctuating in a narrow range, closed the day unchanged.

The mining shares were mildly influenced by the weaker tendency in copper export prices. Newmont, which was not traded in yesterday, receded more than a point and New Jersey Zinc was down nearly a point.

The oils were neglected, Gulf and Standard of Indiana closing down slightly. Aluminum Co., which normally moves rapidly, was quiet, closing unchanged. Deere & Co. rejected the weakness of wheat prices by reacting a fraction. In the specialty group, A. O. Smith gave up more than a point.

Bank Rate Unchanged.

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—The New York Federal Reserve Bank today announced no change in its 2½ per cent rediscount rate.

Grains-Live Stock Price Boost Urged

Railroad Head Points to Values Advance as Nation's Need.

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—H. A. Scandrett, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railway, said today that "a better price for grain and live stock is what we need more than anything else in this country."

A normal price situation, he asserted, would have moved more wheat this autumn, although St. Paul's Western lines handled a larger volume than a year ago. At present coal traffic is holding up better than other shipments.

The St. Paul, President Scandrett said, will not ask for further Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans this year. No decision on a Western rail commission is likely in the near future, he added.

ACCOUNTANTS HEAR REILLY ON CREDITS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

An interesting meeting of the District of Columbia Institute of Certified Public Accountants at the Ambassador Hotel last night was addressed by John A. Reilly, a vice president of the Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co. President Oscar J. Bernstein, of the institute, presided and committee reports were heard.

In reviewing the relation of bank credit to the balance sheet as prepared by certified public accountants, Mr. Reilly suggested that greater attention should be given to the building up of a sound credit system by the use of the best available tools, and he indicated that the balance sheet could render a very useful service in developing profitable business opportunities in the future.

"A more thorough understanding of credit will contribute as much to human welfare and happiness as any other single factor," said Mr. Reilly.

Annual Credit Loss.

He indicated that while it would be difficult to determine accurately the annual credit loss in America, the best authorities on the subject have estimated this sum to be approximately $1,000,000,000.

"If a substantial part of this could be saved by the application of sound credit principles and policies, many of our present difficulties would be solved," he said.

"There is a challenge that comes down to all of us in this era, when physical sufferings and mental anxieties are ever present, and that challenge is to check the annual waste in industry, and in perfecting this program, accountants are afforded a rare opportunity for service," said the speaker.

Myron M. Parker, jr., actively identified with Washington business activities for nearly 20 years, has terminated his connection with the Washington offices of Stein Bros. & Boyce and next week will join the staff of Charles D. Barney & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange.

He has been assigned to the Barney Washington offices and will take up his new duties coincidentally with the removal of those offices next Monday morning to new and elaborately equipped quarters on the ground floor of the Woodward Building.

Former Commissioner's Son.

Mr. Parker is a son of the late Col. Myron M. Parker, former Commissioner of the District of Columbia. Following a preliminary course at Hill School and his graduation from Princeton University, he was associated with his father in the real estate house of M. M. Parker & Son.

After Col. Parker's death, he headed his own firm until his entrance in the brokerage business. He is a member of the Metropolitan, Chevy Chase and other Washington and out-of-town clubs.

It was announced at the Departmental Bank yesterday that that institution will be open until 10 o'clock in the evening, Friday, November 25, for the convenience of shareholders who desire to make payments of their stock assessments in the amount of 100 per cent, recently levied by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

This, it was stated, is the final date to pay the assessment or arrange for the payment in four equal installments without interest, providing that a satisfactory guarantee is given.

Returns from member banks of the District of Columbia Bankers Association in connection with the Red Cross roll call indicate an even better record than that for the year 1932. The records of some of the banks are 50 to 100 per cent greater than the previous years.

COTTON PRICES CUT SLIGHTLY AT CLOSE

December Sells at 6.28 as General Market Drops 2 to 5 Points.

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Trading in cotton was quiet today, and prices fluctuated within a range of 8 or 10 points. December contracts declined from 6.36 to 6.27 and closed at 6.28, with the general market closing steady at net losses of 2 to 5 points.

The opening was 1 point lower to 2 points higher. Prices eased off later under comparatively small offerings. Some further buying was reported through brokers with Japanese connections, and there was a scattering trade demand.

The lowest prices were reached during the afternoon with May contracts selling at 6.54, or about 8 points off from the high level of the morning. Final quotations were at or within a point of the lowest.

Evening-Up Is Feature.

The chief trading feature was evening-up on December contracts in preparation for possible notices next week. Trade buying, presumably to fix prices, again absorbed some of the December liquidation, while a good part of the business was in the form of switching from December to later months at just about the recent differences. At the close December was 26 points under May, compared with 27 points yesterday.

Liverpool cables reported a smaller market there, but said there was a continued demand for cotton goods in Manchester, with offers more workable. Exports today, 35,972, making 2,654,495 so far this season. Port receipts, 60,746. U. S. port stocks, 4,612,832.

Railroad Credit Loans $2,725,400 to 7 Lines

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Loans totaling $2,725,400 to seven railroads were made by the Railroad Credit Corporation at its meeting today.

These raise the amount of loans actually made and authorized by the corporation to $39,291,369. Deducting repayments the net amount of the loans authorized and outstanding is $38,226,119.

Goods Prices Easier.

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Prices on some unfinished cottons were softer today, with a moderate amount of business going through. Finished goods were irregular and a fair amount of "filling in" orders were placed. Wool goods for spring received more attention. Coarse rayons were firmer. Reports were current that advances would be made on a few numbers after the turn of the year. Burlaps were quiet.

WHEAT VALUES DROP 2 CENTS PER BUSHEL

British Exchange Reaction Is Blamed With Sag in Securities Prices.

Chicago, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Uneasiness that followed breaks in British exchange and the resignation of the German cabinet went hand-in-hand with new downslides of grain values today.

Stop-loss selling both of wheat and corn took place, with unsettlement of grains increased by irregularity of stock. Enlarged liquidation of December wheat contracts here put an additional burden on the market.

Wheat closed unsteady at the day's low point, 1⅜ to 2 cents under yesterday's finish; corn, 1¼ to 1¾ down; oats, 1¼ to 1¾ off, and provisions unchanged to 25 cents lower.

December Sales Increase.

Increased liquidation of December wheat holdings was evident from the outset, and met with no adequate display of buying power. On the contrary, talk was heard that December liquidation could be looked for during the next two weeks. Another disturbing factor was estimates current that the new Argentine wheat crop would total 250,000,000 to 280,000,000 bushels, indicating 180,000,000 bushels available for export, a circumstance construed as likely to keep Europe in complacent mood as to supplies.

Contributing to bearish advantages were persisting uncertainties to the new British preferential tariff. Meanwhile, friends of higher prices for wheat failed to make headway with suggestions of potential bullish possibilities for the future should domestic winter crop prospects develop poorly Southwest. The market also ignored reports of unwelcome rains and of storm damage in parts of Argentina.

Corn and oats dropped with wheat, although country offerings of corn were not large and notwithstanding that there has been 4 cents advance for cash corn, compared with what was bid two weeks ago.

Provisions reflected the action of cereals as well as late setbacks of hog values.

Ice Trade Values Sales Advertising

Association Official Urges Use of Newspapers in Drives.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Frank B. Ostermuller, of Dallas, Tex., told the National Association of Ice Industries today that the industry needs all the newspaper advertising space it can buy "to sell the economies and efficiencies of ice refrigeration and ice refrigerators that are modern."

Mr. Ostermuller, chairman of the association's marketing service, said the industry "needs copy that sells." "The success of any campaign is centering all forces on a certain objective —everything toward one goal," he said. "Get the same story over from every angle."

E. A. Brandt, secretary of the association's national technical department, reported commercial and domestic ice cooling system installations have enjoyed a 400 per cent gain. Achievements made through study at the University of Illinois, he said, have improved freezing time by 50 per cent.

The protective committee for Abitibi Paper & Power Co., Ltd., first mortgage series "A" 5 per cent bonds announced today that holders of a majority of the bonds had become parties to the deposit agreement. The New York Stock Exchange has placed these securities in a classification with other issues which have matured, but which are being held on the list pending further investigation. The protective committee said that if the Abitibi issue were removed from trading it was prepared to apply for immediate admission of the deposit certificates. The total of Abitibi bonds outstanding is $48,287,000, principal amount.

Aided by a substantial rise in New York City, bank clearings last week increased 19.2 per cent above the figures of the preceding week, Bradstreet's reported today. The clearances were $4,282,934,000, compared with $3,591,971,000.

Bradstreet's wholesale food index continued to gain last week, rising 4 cents following the previous week's advance of 3 cents. The index for November 15 was $1.71, compared with $1.67 for November 8. The most important single factor in the advance was a sharp jump in the price of eggs, the agency reports.

Formation of the "independent bondholders' committee" for holders of departmental and municipal bonds of the Republic of Colombia was announced here today. It is headed by former Senator Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma. The committee says it has no connection with banking or financial institutions that are concerned in any way with the original offerings of the dollar bonds and is asking for deposits of securities with the Corn Exchange Bank Trust Co., New York. Another Colombian bondholders' protective committee was formed recently under chairmanship of Richard Washburn Child.

Hops Market Improves On Modification Outlook

New York, Nov. 17 (A.P.).—Increased speculation on the outlook for early modification of the prohibition laws has brought a more active interest to the day's hops market, dealers reported today.

Prices have advanced considerably over the past week, reflecting a firmer price attitude on the part of holders. It is said by dealers that bullish price views have been encouraged by the recent Government estimate placing the production of hops in the principal growing States of the country for 1932 at 25,300,000 pounds, or 600,000 less than last year and 5,000,000 pounds less than the five-year average, 1924 to now.

THE ONCE OVER

H. I. PHILLIPS

THAT CONFERENCE BETWEEN MR. HOOVER AND MR. ROOSEVELT.

PRESIDENT HOOVER—How do you do, Franklin? I'm glad to welcome you to our national troubles.

Gov. Roosevelt—The pleasure is all yours.

President—I thought you might desire to get into this predicament at once.

Governor—You forget that I have until March 4 to begin worrying.

President—You might as well get used to worrying at once. The idea is this: Europe has tossed its war debt problem into my lap again and I • • •

Governor (interrupting)—You thought two laps were better than one.

President—You're determined, I see, to have your little joke.

• • • •

GOVERNOR—On the contrary, I'm determined not to.

• • • •

President—I had hoped that we could sit down together and come to some agreement on this very complicated problem of what to do about the money nobody seems to owe us.

Governor—But I don't fully grasp the problem.

President—That's all right. Neither do I.

Governor—It seems to me that after all, Herbert, it is your problem.

President—I just had it taken away from me.

Governor—How?

President—By some millions of voters.

Governor—They expected you to drop it ultimately but hardly so soon.

President—But the problem is so urgent.

Governor—When the quarter back of a football team finds himself in the shadow of his own goal posts he doesn't ask next year's team captain to come in and give the signals.

• • • •

Governor—If you will make it clear just what you think I should do, I may be able to cooperate. I will not be President for about three and a half months.

President—True, but a little workout won't do you any harm.

• • • •

President—Of course you can't do anything now, but it occurred to me that you might, through transmitting our mutual views, get the Democrats in the next Congress to agree to something without a fight.

Governor—You believe in miracles, Mr. Hoover.

President—Well, anyhow, let's sit down and talk it over. It can't do you any harm.

Governor—Not if I can help it!

President (as they huddle)—Now it's like this. The funded debt of the fifteen nations is $11,229,986,706, to which later will be added $184,000,000 in interest. To date the debtor nations have paid us $2,627,580,897, of which $953,343,602 was received before • • •

Governor—Before we go any further let's get some help.

• • • •

FOOTBALL GAMES.

TOGETHER we saw the stirring game;
The gridiron was green, your hat the same;
Day was autumn, like the leaves you wore.
I often wonder what was the score.

HARD TO BELIEVE.

An aviator has flown from coast to coast in 12 hours and 33 minutes. Our ambition is to see a man reading about this while trying to get some place in a trolley car in the shopping district of a big city.

The hotel men are feeling very cheerful about prohibition modification prospects. They would welcome a day when the guests didn't use the doorknobs, latches, bed posts and bureau drawers for bottle openers.

2 FILLING STATIONS HELD UP AS SERIES OF THEFTS GOES ON

Day's Loot Is $800 as More Homes Are Ransacked; Gunman Sought.

Loot in excess of $800 was obtained in two holdups last night and in a series of burglaries reported to police.

Reymond E. Devore, attendant of a filling station at Third and Concord streets northwest, was help up and robbed of approximately $70 last night by two colored men.

The men told Devore, who was outside the office, that they were out of gasoline. When Devore reached inside the door for a can they forced him inside the office and took about $6 from his pockets. Dissatisfied with the amount obtained, they told Devore that they had to have money. He tried to parry with the men, but they forced him to open the safe, from which they took about $62.

Another Filling Station Robbed.

Threatening him if he spread the alarm too soon, they escaped in an automobile which they had left in the rear of the station. He said that only one of the men flourished a gun, which was a small automatic revolver.

Two colored men also held up and robbed Paul Price, attendant at a filling station at Fifteenth and Church streets northwest. Price was counting the day's receipts when the men, both armed with automatic revolvers, entered. They robbed him of $106 and escaped down an alley.

The descriptions of the men were similar in both cases, and police believe that the same men perpetrated both holdups.

Residence Is Looted.

Breaking the glass in a front door while the family was away from home between 6 and 8:30 o'clock last night, burglars stole a dinner set and other articles, valued at $500, from the home of James A. Bayard, 3103 Cathedral avenue northwest.

Apparently using a duplicate key, burglars also entered the home of Harry A. Olike, 1420 K street northwest. They ransacked his home, but apparently stole only $3 worth of stamps.

Other Robberies.

Thieves who entered the home of William Keely, 1410 Euclid street northwest, ransacked his apartment and stole $62.50 in cash. He said the burglary occurred between 9 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Clothing and a revolver, valued at $35, were stolen from the home of David Mixson, 305 K street northwest, by burglars who entered through a window.

Miss Ruth Dell, 1739 Lanier place northwest, reported the theft of $30 in cash and a wrist watch worth $10 from her apartment.

Chris Kallas, 6200 Georgia avenue northwest, said that burglars who entered his delicatessen Wednesday night stole $10 from the cash register.

Officers of the Conservation Department of Maryland and the Bureau of Fisheries of the Commerce Department are engaged in rescuing fish from the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal. The fish are trapped in shallow pools which would freeze solid and kill them in the winter. The upper photo shows workers dragging a seine in a large pool. DR. CURTIUS STATES REICH SEEKS ACCORD WITH U. S. FOR PEACE

Former Foreign Minister Is Speaker at Prominent Assemblage Here.

A Germany prepared to cooperate with the United States and other nations in striving toward world peace and economic recovery was pictured last night by Dr. Julius Curtius, former minister for foreign affairs in Germany, in an address at an international relations dinner of the American Association of University Women.

As an incentive toward economic recovery, Dr. Curtius advocated an agreement between the United States and its European debtors on a new basis. He added the opinion that the United States can not enter into such an agreement if it does not feel justified in doing so.

Overcomes Bolshevism.

Dr. Curtius credited the United States with breaking the deadlock at the disarmament conference last spring through proposals for a reduction of man-power and abolishment of heavy weapons of attack. The crisis, however, is not yet at an end, he added.

The speaker, who has played a leading part in the struggle of Germany since the end of the World War, pointed with pride to the fact that his nation, in the face of every adversity, has overcome the invasion of bolshevism and built up economy again.

Calls on President Hoover.

Commenting on the present situation in Germany, Dr. Curtius declared that it would be fortunate for his country if President von Hindenburg would succeed in uniting "under his wise leadership the valuable forces of the German national movements."

Dr. Curtius was heard by a large assemblage, including the German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron and other members of the German Embassy. He was introduced by Miss Elizabeth Eastman, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the university Women's Association. Mrs. William John Cooper, wife of the United States Commissioner of Education, presided.

Catholic Hierarchy Concludes Session

Seven Are Reappointed to Administrative Group on Welfare.

The two-day conferences of the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church in America was brought to a close yesterday after the disposal of routine administrative matters.

Catholic dignitaries from all over the country, including Cardinals O'Connell, of Boston, and Mundelein, of Chicago, attended the meeting, which was held at Catholic University.

Archbishops Hanna, of San Francisco; McNicholas, of Cincinnati; Murray, of St. Paul, and Bishops Lillis, of Kansas City; Schrembs, of Cleveland; Boyle, of Pittsburgh, and Noll, of Fort Wayne, Ind., were reappointed to the administrative committee of the National Catholic Welfare Association.

New Badges for Police On Dry Duty Ordered

The Metropolitan Police Department is evidently not hoping for early relief from its prohibition enforcement duties, despite the coming of a new administration pledged to dry modification.

Orders for new badges for policemen assigned to prohibition enforcement were issued yesterday. The new shields will bear the designation "investigator" instead of "agent." The badges are being issued from the office of Prohibition Director W. R. Blandford. No explanation for the change was forthcoming.

DEWEY ZIRKIN MADE KIWANIS CLUB HEAD

Harold N. March Winner Over Edmund Jewell for Vice Presidency.

New officers of the Washington Kiwanis Club were elected yesterday at a luncheon meeting in the Raleigh Hotel, with Dewey Zirkin elevated to the presidency for the ensuing year.

Both Mr. Zirkin and Lewis T. Breuninger, the new first vice president, were unopposed in the election. The office of second vice president, however, provided a heated contest.

Harold N. Marsh was finally declared the winner, following a lively three-cornered battle. Edmund P. Jewell led the field on the first ballot, but Marsh edged him out by a close margin on the second. Charles W. Pimper was the other contestant.

Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, was the principal speaker. He assured members of the club that every effort would be made to prevent the threatened "hunger march" on Washington.

Certificate of Suicide Given in Woman's Death

A certificate of suicide was issued yesterday by Coroner Joseph D. Rogers in the death of Mrs. May Richards, 56, at Casualty Hospital from the effects of a draught of disinfectant.

Mrs. Richards, who is survived by her husband, William Richards, lived at 1544 Rosedale street northeast. She was said to have been depressed recently because of ill health.

TRAFFIC TOLL

Though accidents to date total 407 less than for the same period last year, the mishaps that have occurred have been considerably more serious. This is amply illustrated by the accidents occurring Tuesday. Out of 41 collisions, 28 persons received injuries.

Police are attempting more stringent enforcement of traffic regulations, but that isn't enough. The regulations were promulgated to protect motorists and pedestrians. To safeguard their own interests, they must observe traffic signs and rules, even though the official eye is not on them.

This year there have been 42 more deaths from traffic accidents than last year, and 221 more injuries. The figures are:

	1931.	1932.
Deaths	69	111
Injuries	3,146	3,367
Accidents	7,341	6,934

"Be Careful!"

State Is Rescuing Fish From Pools in Old Canal

Work Is Being Done to Protect Black Bass From Freezing to Death When Winter Comes; Potomac Is New Home.

Unsuccessful anglers who have whipped the upper reaches of the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal with plug, bait and fly for the gamy black bass have the chance to see the fighting black beauties which they did not catch if they follow members of the Maryland Conservation Department these November days.

The department and the Bureau of Fisheries of the Department of Commerce are taking thousands of bass and many other kinds of fish from the canal each day. The fish are being "rescued" from the canal and immediately dumped into a new home in the Potomac.

Each year in the autumn the water becomes low in the canal. Shallow pools from a few feet to a quarter of a mile in length remain on the floor of the ancient waterway. The fish which have come into the canal during the high water stages of the spring are left stranded in the pools. As these pools freeze solid during the winter, the game fish would perish. Hence their rescue.

The work is done with a crew of six men under the supervision of Carroll Waters, chief game warden of the conservation department, and with the assistance of Charles W. Burnham, of the Bureau of Fisheries.

The men drag a seine up the smaller pools. Usually each cast of the net is rewarded with a catch of 40 to 50 black bass along with lesser number of perch, sunfish, carp and catfish. The canal's eels slip through the net.

From the seine the fish are placed in buckets and carried across to the river, where they are released, safe from the freeze-up and ready to dodge fishermen's lures when the next season opens.

Because some of the pools are so long and the seine gets so cluttered with leaves and debris that it can not be hauled the whole distance, a "trench net" is used to divide the pools, which are then seined a portion at a time.

A distance of about 35 miles of canal will be "defished" by the rescuers. It stretches from the District line to Frederick County. Ten days will be required to finish the job. Yesterday the wardens were about 5 miles above Great Falls.

Jobless Man Is Found Slashed With Scissors

Gilbert Williams, 34, of 707 Tenth street northeast, was in a serious condition at Gallinger Hospital last night as the result of an attempt, according to police, to end his life by cutting his throat with a pair of scissors.

Mrs. Sarah Williams, stepmother of the wounded man, told police Williams inflicted the wound in the bathroom at the Tenth street address and then informed her and his father, Walter Williams. Police were told that the younger Williams had been despondent because of inability to obtain employment.

$106,000 REQUESTED OF BANK INVESTORS

Depositors Also Are Asked to File Claims in Suspended Institution Here.

Shareholders of the Departmental Bank, which suspended operations on July 15, were called upon yesterday to arrange for payment of 100 per cent assessments on or before November 25. The call was issued by W. B. Allman, receiver for the bank.

The assessment, aggregating $106,000, was made against 3,000 shareholders on October 25, under authority of the Controller of Currency of the Federal Government for the protection of depositors.

The bank will remain open until 10 o'clock on November 25 for the convenience of the shareholders. Although the full payment is due, Mr. Allman said, the right will be extended to make the payments in four monthly installments.

Depositors are being given an opportunity to file claims for payment by the institution. The shareholders were subject to double liability in case of the failure of the bank.

The condition of the bank for the quarter ended September 30 showed assets coming into the hands of the receiver amounting to $1,118,867.75. The total assets uncollected were $949,606.82 and the liabilities were $906,937.20. Cash on hand totaled $121,041.51.

Accident Is Verdict In Automobile Death

A verdict of accidental death was brought in by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death Tuesday night of William J. O'Connor, 32, as the result of injuries received when struck by an automobile at Nineteenth street and Benning road northeast.

Joseph W. Belt, 47, of Brentwood, Md., driver of the car that struck O'Connor, was exonerated of blame by the verdict. O'Connor lived at 2037 H street northeast.

New Rules Made For Public Guides

City Heads Place Police in Direct Supervision Under New Law.

Rigid regulations governing the licensing of public guides in Washington were adopted yesterday by the District Commissioners under authority granted them by the recent license law. The new rules place the guides directly under the supervision of the superintendent of police, to whom all applications for permits must be made.

Applicants must be not less than 21 years of age and must have resided in the Washington metropolitan area (which includes nearby Virginia and Maryland) for not less than two years.

Every applicant must pass a medical examination and a test of his knowledge concerning public buildings and points of interest, the latter to be conducted by the Police Department. Uniforms must be approved by the Commissioners, and rates are restricted to $1.50 an hour or $10 a day.

Car Crash Victim Dies of Infection

September Accident Proves Fatal to Washington Boilermaker.

Charles Amos, 44-year-old boilermaker, of 210 Eighth street southeast, died at Gallinger Hospital yesterday afternoon as the result of infection from injuries sustained on September 2 when an automobile in which he was riding overturned between Fredericksburg, Va., and this city.

Reports to the coroner's office show Amos was riding with two companions, Frank Upley and Charles Ryals, said to be employes of the District Navy Yard. An autopsy was performed last night by Deputy Coroner Christopher J. Murphy, which indicated that death resulted from a meningitis condition, following a skull injury.

The office of Coroner Joseph D. Rogers last night was unable to say where Amos was treated when he first was injured.
